Continue

```
Cat Breeds Compare Breed Playful, easygoing, intelligent, sociable Black Mamba, Mini Panther Medium-sized short-haired Affection Level? Breeds with high activity levels will engage more in active play and demand more space and attention. Pet-Friendly? How well the breed tends to get along with a higher rating in this area tend to be gentle and patient, while lower-rated breeds may feel uncomfortable with children. Sociability? Breeds with a higher sociability rating will want to spend time with you all day, while less-sociable breeds seldom seek out human interaction. Intelligence ? Breeds with higher intelligence ratings are more curious, investigative, and easy to train. Less-intelligence breeds are less trainable but often laid-back and easygoing. Playfulness? Breeds that score higher in this area have strong hunting instincts that make them great playtime companions. Independence? Breeds that score higher in this area are able to spend hours alone, while less-independent breeds are happy to stay quiet. Grooming? Breeds with higher grooming scores require more maintenance like brushing and bathing, while lower-scored breeds are virtually maintenance-free. Stunning looks and an intriguing personality make the Bombay cat a charming addition to any household. These medium-sized shorthair cats are absolutely gorgeous thanks to their pure black coats and their brilliant copper-colored eyes. Similar to the Burmese cats that make up the breed's foundation, Bombays tend to be chatty. At the same time though, they are less vocal and far less demanding than their Burmese cousins probably due to the calming influence of the American and British shorthair cats that make up the other half of the Bombay hybrid. As family pets go, Bombay cats are outstanding. Rather than bonding with a single individual, they are affectionate toward everyone they know and they have a tendency to get along well with other pets. The Bombay cats are outstanding. Rather than bonding with a single individual, they are affectionate toward everyone they know and they have a tendency to get along well with other pets.
offer a high-quality diet to ensure that your pet stays healthy for years to come. Bombay cats are low maintenance thanks to their shorthair coats. Still, you may want to give your cat a quick brush once a week or so, simply to remove loose hair and reduce the potential for the excessive shedding and hairballs that come with it. The Bombay cat is frisky, with a strong play drive. These cats enjoy games of all kinds and they love to climb. A well-stocked basket of toys, multiple scratching posts, and a stout cat tree are essential for keeping this lively feline entertained. These cats typically enjoy good health and has a fairly long lifespan that averages about 15 years. Even so, Bombays can occasionally have health concerns including breathing problems caused by their short nose, excessive tearing in the eyes, and hypertrophic cardiomyopathy. If the Bombay cat reminds you of a miniature black panther, youre not mistaken! Nikki Horner, founder of the Bombay cat breed, started out with the intention of developing a cat that looked like a small panther. She crossed a black American shorthair male with a female Burmese and eventually the Bombay came into being. The breed took more than a decade to develop, with American shorthairs and British shorthairs contributing to the cat's medium size and robust nature. The first breeding took place in the 1950s and despite the cat's stunning appearance and appealing personality, CFA did not grant official acceptance for registration until 1970. There is a slight difference between American Bombay cats have green eyes. Bombay kittens display mild but visible tabby striping at birth. The striping disappears by the time the cat reaches adulthood. Bombay cats can be friendly toward strangers. While some cats are fine with being left to their own devices overnight, Bombay cat, and be friendly toward strangers. While some cats are fine with being left to their own devices overnight, Bombay cats can be come anxious when left alone for long periods of time. If you have a Bombay cat, you'll want to have them boarded or get help from a pet sitter even for short, overnight trips. Bombay cats have rounded eyes that are set far apart. The color is always gold or copper in American cats and green in British cats, with deeper colors being preferable. The legs should be well formed and proportionate to the body and tail. The paws should have a rounded profile. The Bombay cat's tail should be of medium length, with a slight taper. The Bombay cat is medium-sized, with a short coat. The body should be round, without any sharp angles. The muzzle should be broad and well-developed, maintaining the head's rounded profile. There is a slight indentation at the bridge of the nose, leading to a rounded muzzle. The ears are rounded and set well apart. They should be broad at the base with a slightly forward-facing tilt. The coat should be broad at the base with a slightly forward-facing tilt. They should be broad at the base with a slightly forward-facing tilt. They should be broad at the base with a slightly forward-facing tilt.
Adult Bombay cats should have black hair from tip to root. Nose leather and paw pads should be black. At Cats.com, we advocate for cat adoption versus buying from breeders. The Bombay, like other purebred cats, is seldom seen in shelters and rescues. Try out our Petfinder tool to explore cats who are either confirmed Bombay or resemble one.
Remember that many shelters incorrectly label moggies non-purebred cats as purebreds. Take a look, and you just might fall in love with a non-purebred rescue cat in need. If you want to purchase a Bombay, consider contacting a local breeder for more information. Bombay cats tend to be medium in size. A fully grown Bombay cat might weigh between 6-11 pounds or more and range in height anywhere from about 8"-10" inches tall. The Average lifespan for Bombay is 12-16 years. Bombay are short-haired cats the pust do not shed as much as long-haired cat breeds. Help us do better! Was this information helpful and relevant? I am completely satisfied, I found useful information and tips in this article Article was somewhat helpful, but could be improved Cat Breeds Compare Breed Sweet, friendly, curious, playful Kangaroo cat, Magpie, Sausage cat Small short-haired and long-haired Affection Level? Breeds with a high affection level want to give and receive a lot of attention, while less-affectionate breeds are not as interested in petting and snuggles. Activity Level? Breeds with high activity levels will engage more in active play and demand more space and attention. Pet-Friendly? Breeds with a higher rating in this area tend to be gentle and patient, while lower-rated breeds may feel uncomfortable with children. Sociability ? Breeds with a higher sociability rating will want to spend time with you all day, while less-sociable breeds seldom seek out human interaction. Intelligence ? Breeds with higher intelligence ratings are more curious, investigative, and easy to train. Less-intelligent breeds are less trainable but often laid-back and easygoing. Playfulness? Breeds that score higher in this area are able to spend hours alone, while less-independent breeds require plenty of attention. Vocality? A higher rating in this area indicates a breed prone to plenty of meowing and other vocalizations, while less-vocal breeds are happy to stay quiet. Grooming ? Breeds with higher grooming scores require more maintenance like brushing and bathing, while lower-scored breeds are virtually maintenance-free. The Munchkin cat is so much more than an adorable little pet: These cats are sweet natured, personable, and playful. With extra short legs that contribute to the breed's nickname "Dachshund of the cat world," these kitties tend to be on the small side. They may have short or long hair, and they come in every color imaginable. Thanks to the bouncy, short strides they take when running, Munchkin cats are often compared to rabbits and ferrets. The truth is, they are 100% feline, with magnetic personalities, a strong play drive, and an intense love of cuddling. As you might have guessed, this breed is named after the Munchkins from The Wizard of Oz. Their short legs are caused by a naturally occurring genetic mutation that is caused by an autosomal dominant gene. Munchkin cat breeders select for this gene, which affects leg bone length. These kitties don't know that their legs are far shorter than the average cat's; they simply enjoy life a little closer to the ground! To get a better view, theyll often stand on their hind legs. Munchkin cats come in three different heights: Standard, supershort, and rug hugger. Leg length affects the height only; the rest of the cat's body is proportioned like that of an average domestic cat. You might think that Munchkin cats can't jump. While it is true that their leaps are not as impressive as those of average sized cats, many individuals can make it from the floor to the seat of the couch or the top of your bed with ease. Since they aren't likely to leap onto tall tabletops and high display shelves, members of the Munchkin cat breed might be ideal for people who love cats but worry about the impact they might have on collectibles. One thing is certain: Bring a Munchkin into your home, and you'll instantly fall in love with their adorable looks and charming personalities. Munchkin cats do not have any special nutritional requirements, however it is best to offer a high-gradity brand that includes real meat or fish as the first ingredient. Munchkin cats' grooming routines vary depending on their coat length. If your Munchkin has a short coat, then you'll want to brush them just once or twice per week to remove any loose hair. If you have a long-haired Munchkin cat, daily grooming is essential. Keep your kitty's claws clipped to prevent damage to your belongings, and consider teaching your kitten to allow toothbrushing from a young age. Since Munchkin cats love to play, it isn't at all difficult to encourage them to get enough exercise. These kitties absolutely love their toys and they love it even more when their human companions take time out for interactive play. As Munchkin cats get along very well with other pets including well-mannered dogs, they will enjoy playtime together when given the opportunity. Your Munchkin cat might not need a super tall cat tree, but they need a few scratchers, particularly those that are close to the ground and within easy reach. Sprinkle your kitty's scratcher with catnip to encourage them to sink their claws into appropriate materials only and to bring out even more playfulness. If your Munchkin shows an interest in climbing, providing them with a cat tree will save your furniture and provide your kitty with an elevated vantage point that they'll appreciate. It's very important to note that breeding one Munchkin cat to another Munchki responsible breeder or adoption agency. Responsible Munchkin breeders outcross cats with the short legged gene with cats that do not carry the gene. This greatly reduces the risk of health issues that could cause discomfort and early death. While most Munchkin cats are generally healthy, genetic problems do occur - even when breeders are cautious. The most prevalent issue is called lordosis. Lordosis is a dip in the portion of the shoulder blades. When this occurs, it leads to compression of the internal organs. In the mildest cases, lordosis can cause shortness of breath. In serious cases, it can cause the heart, lungs, and other organs to compress over time, leading to severe discomfort and early death. Munchkin cats are at a higher than average risk for osteoarthritis, which causes a hollow chest. The Munchkin cat breed is relatively new, although individual cats with shorter than average legs have been noted and even encouraged throughout history. The breed's story begins in 1983, when a female cat was rescued in Louisiana. She had been abandoned outdoors, and had been chased under a pickup truck by a dog. This cat, later named Blackberry, was pregnant and gave birth to a litter that included some kittens with short legs. Her rescuer, Sandra Hochenedel, gave one of the male short-legged kittens to a friend named Kay LaFrance. This kitten was named Toulouse, and was eventually bred back to Blackberry. Their offspring formed the foundation for the Munchkin cat breed as we know it today. Responsible breeders do their best to ensure that kittens are healthy and accept Munchkin cats. Much controversy surrounds the breed, as not all breeders take responsibility for preventing painful issues that adversely affect the welfare of the individuals they produce. TICA granted the Munchkin cat breed championship status in 2003, but no progress toward advancing the Munchkin's status in the world of cat fancy has occurred since then. Image Credit: Munchkin cats love to collect small, shiny objects. This trait is so prevalent that the breed has been nicknamed "The magpie of the cat world!" If you're looking for a pet that's friendly with strangers, you might want to consider a Munchkin cat. These kitties like just about everyone they meet and will happily hop into be walnut shaped and should be wide enough apart to provide an open, alert expression. Eyes may be of any color. A Munchkin cat's legs should be short, and should be set evenly apart, with the upper and lower forelegs being of equal length. The back legs may be of the same length as the front legs, although longer back legs and shorter front legs are acceptable. The paws should be round and compact. Feet should be pointed straightforward, not pronated inward or outward. The tail should be of medium-sized breed that matures to an average weight of 5 to 9 pounds. Females are usually smaller than males. The head should be a modified wedge shape with rounded contours, and should be proportionate to the head, with broader bases and slightly rounded tips. Longhair Munchkin cat's may display lynx tips. Shorthaired Munchkins have plush, soft coats. Long-haired Munchkin cats typically display very soft, silky coats. Munchkin cats may be of any color and pattern imaginable. Solid colors, tabbies, harlequins, and pointed varieties are a few examples. At Cats.com, we advocate for cat adoption versus buying from breeders. The Munchkin, like other purebred cats, is seldom seen in shelters and rescues. Try out our Petfinder tool to explore cats who are either confirmed Munchkin or resemble one. Remember that many shelters incorrectly label moggies non-purebred cats as purebreds. Take a look, and you just might fall in love with a non-purebred rescue cat in need. If you want to purchase a Munchkin, consider contacting a local breeder for more information. Munchkin cats cost between $1,000-$2,000. Munchkin cats tend to be small in size. A fully grown Munchkin cat might weigh between 4-9 pounds or more and range in height anywhere from about 6"-9" inches tall. The Average lifespan for Munchkin is 12-15 years. Munchkin are long-haired cats, so you do have to expect a certain amount of shedding from this breed, but they don't shed as much as other cat breeds. Help us do better! Was this information and tips in this article Article was somewhat helpful, but could be improved Checkout the list of Cat BreedsA | B | C | D | E |
 Breeds Beginning With BBagral catBahraini Dilmun catBalineseBambinoBay CatBengalBengal tigerBirmanBlack-footed CatBlynxBobcatBohemian Rex catBombayBornean Clouded LeopardBramble catBrazilian ShorthairBritish LonghairBritish ShorthairBurmeseBurmillaCat Breeds Beginning With CCalifornia Spangled CatCanadian DonskoyDossow catDragon LiDwarf catsDwelf catCat Breeds Beginning With EEgyptian MauElf CatEurasian LynxEuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseuro-Chauseu
CurlHighlanderHimalayanCat Breeds Beginning With IIberian LynxIriomote CatCat Breeds Beginning With IIberian LynxIriomote CatCat Breeds Beginning With IIberian LynxIriomote CatJungle-BobJungle CatJungle-CurlJungle LynxCat Breeds Beginning With IIberian LynxIriomote CatCat Breeds Beginning With IIberian LynxIriomote CatCat Breeds Beginning With IIberian LynxIriomote CatJungle-BobJungle CatJungle CatJungl
Forest CatCat Breeds Beginning With OOcelotOcicatOdd-eyed catOjos AzulesOncillaOregon Rex catOriental LonghairOriental ShorthairCat Breeds Beginning With PPallass CatPanthera hybridPantanal CatPantherettePersianPeterbaldPixie-bobPunjabiPumapardPolydactyl catCat Breeds Beginning With RRagdollRagamuffinRussianRussianRussian BlueRusty-spotted CatCat Breeds Beginning With SSand CatScottie-ChausieScottish FoldSafariSavannahSelkirk RexSerengetiServalservicalSeychelloisShorthaired BirmanSiameseSiberianSingapuraSkookumSnow LeopardSnowshoeSokokeSomaliSphynxSquittenStone CougarCat Breeds Beginning With TTabby catTeacup images for one (or 10) of the breeds, I need all the help I can get. All information will be credited to you along with links back to you. Please contact me if you are interested, thanks.Return to TopFIFe classification Category II17Category IV9Category IV9C ears18Size Medium40Large9Small3Average weight 7-11 lb2611-13 lb1813-17 lb622-30 lb217-22 lb1Life expectancy 15-18 years2310-15 years2218-20 years48-10 years218-20 years48-20 years48-2 hair5Category Page 2 FIFe classification Category II17Category II7Category IV9Category IV9 years2Character Affectionate52Curious40Intelligent40Extroverted32Active29Calm22Shy11Solitary5Climate Moderate31Cold14Hot4Type of hair Short27Medium21Long19No hair5Category This article is an extensive list of all cat breeds in the world. From exotic Turkish Vans to affectionate York Chocolates, these cats are known for their unique coats, eye colors, and personalities. Each breed has its own distinct features that set it apart from the rest, whether its a long coat or independent nature! So, if youre looking for a furry friend with an extraordinary personality, this article will help you find your perfect match! Abyssinian The Abyssinian is a historically renowned breed of housecat originating from the ancient city of Abyssinia (modern day Ethiopia). With its graceful and athletic build, striking tabby coat and intelligence, this breed is often referred to as the supermodel among cats. The Abyssinian has a distinctive look with large, almond-shaped eyes and pointed ears atop its sleek frame. Its coat is short and close-lying, with characteristic dark brown spots on a rust-brown or pale-brown background. This unique pattern gives the breed an exotic and wild appearance. Originally introduced in Europe in the late 1800s, the Abyssinian is one of the oldest domesticated cat breeds. This breed has been cherished for centuries for their loyal and loving nature; they are known to be very attached to their owners. They are also highly intelligent cats who enjoy playing and exploring, making them ideal family pets. The Abyssinian is an active breed that will bring years of companionship and joy to any home they grace! Aegean The Aegean is a medium-sized cat with a distinctive, plush coat. It has a wedge-shaped head, long legs and an elegant body with a long tail. This graceful breed is native to the Greek islands of Lesbos and likely dates back centuries. It is appreciated for its affectionate and loyal temperament as well as its gentle nature. The Aegeans coat is usually solid white or cream in color, but can have spots or tabby stripes on its legs, tail, face and body
The thick fur of this breed serves to protect it from the cold weather of its birthplace. With their intelligence and friendly personalities, Aegean cats are beautiful companions that will bring their owners years of joy! American Shorthair is a medium-sized cat known for its intelligence, loyalty and affectionate personality. This breed originated in the United States and has been popular with households across America for generations. The American Shorthair is recognized for its muscular body, sturdy build and short, glossy coat which comes in a variety of colors and patterns. Its prominent features include large eyes, full cheeks and perky ears that stand up on its broad head. This breed is also known to be active and playful, they are very intelligent cats who love to explore their environment and investigate new items. Furthermore, the American Shorthair is an incredibly loyal breed that enjoys being around people and will provide years of companionship to any family lucky enough to call one their own!American wirehairThe American Wirehair is an incredibly unique and rare breed of cat, known for its distinctive wire-like coat. This remarkable and wild-looking breed first emerged in 1966 in New York when a single male kitten was discovered by a local breeder with a distinct mutation. The American Wirehair is characterized by its plush fur, which is thick, American Wirehairs also have curious nature making them perfect companions for active families looking for an intelligent pet. With their outgoing personalities and endearing character, these cats will bring joy to any home they grace for many years to come! American Curl is a distinct and exotic breed of cat characterized by its distinctive curled ears. This breed originated in 1981 in California when two cats with unusually curled ears were discovered in the wild. Since then, this breed has become an increasingly popular choice for many households due to its unique and loving personality. The American Curl has a medium-sized body and usually has a long coat that comes increasingly popular choice for many households due to its unique and loving personality.
a range of colors, from brown to black to silver. They also have bright eyes and a sweet expression which make them truly special pets. They are not only affectionate and loyal to their owners, but they are also very intelligent and curious cats who love to explore their environment. With their devoted nature and wild look, it is no surprise that the American Curl has become such a beloved pet! American Bobtail is an incredibly unique breed of cat known for its wild-looking appearance and loving personality. This breed originated in the late 1960s when a naturally occurring bobtail mutation was discovered among some feral cats. The American Bobtail is easily recognizable with its short tail, usually only two or three centimeters long, giving it a wild and untamed look. It has a medium-sized body and broad chest, with a thick, short coat that comes in many colors and patterns. Its most distinguishing feature are its large eyes set wide apart on its broad head and its pointed ears, giving it an alert and curious expression. With their intelligence, loyalty, and affectionate nature, American Bobtails make excellent companions for any household. They are active cats who love, attention, and stimulation. These cats are incredibly intelligent and have great capacity for learning new tricks and commands; they will also happily engage in interactive games such as fetch or hide-and-seek! Asian semi-longhair The Asian Semi-Longhair is an exotic breed of cat known for its luxurious, long coat and affectionate personality. This breed originated in Japan, where it has been selectively bred over generations to produce its unique appearance and characteristics. The Asian Semi-Longhair has a semi-longhaired coat that can range from white to black and many colors in between, giving them a wild and exotic look. They are an active yet friendly breed who loves to explore their surroundings, they are very loyal to their owners and will always seek out affection. Their thick coat requires regular grooming but they shed minimally making them ideal for people with allergies. With their loving personalities, beautiful looks, and hypoallergenic nature the Asian Semi-Longhair makes a perfect companion for any household! Australian mistThe Australian Mist is an incredibly unique breed of cat known for its luxurious, short-haired coat and affectionate personality. This breed originated in Australian Mist has a short, thick coat that comes in many colors including blue, silver, brown and black; they also have large eyes and ears which give them a wild and curious expression. Their most distinguishing feature is their short tail which sets them apart from other cats. In addition to their striking physical appearance, the Australian Mist is renowned for its exceptionally loving nature they are incredibly loyal and devoted cats who always seek out the attention of their exotic beauty, intelligence and loyalty, the Australian Mist makes the perfect companion for any household! Balinese is a long-haired cat originating from Southeast Asia. Known for its elegant grace and silky coat, the Balinese is an incredibly intelligent and active breed that loves to play and explore their surroundings. They are characterized by their pointed ears, almond-shaped eyes, and distinctive blue eyes, giving them an alert and curious expression. Their luxurious coat comes in various colors, including seal point, blue point, and lynx point. This breed originated in Thailand where it has been selectively bred over generations to create its unique characteristics they are renowned for their loyalty, friendliness and loving nature, making them the perfect companion for any household! Bambino is an unusual domestic cat breed, developed in the United States from a combination of Munchkin and Sphynx cats. Its most distinguishing feature is its short, stubby legs which give it a unique, toy-like appearance. The Bambino also has big, round eyes and ears that are set wide apart on its small head, giving it an alert and curious expression. Its coat is very short and comes in many colors and patterns, including solid blue, black and white. They are known for their agility and active nature, they love to explore their environment and play with their owners! The history of the Bambino cat dates back to 2005 when two Munchkin cats were bred together to create this unique breed. Since then, they have become a popular companion for families who appreciate their unique looks and affectionate character. Moreover, the Bambino is highly intelligent due to its hybrid nature as well as being extremely loyal to its family members it is more than happy to spend time with them exploring new places or simply cuddling up on the couch! Bengal The Be Known for their beautiful and sleek coat, which can range from brown to orange and feature a distinctive spotted or marbled pattern, Bengals also have large eyes that give them an alert and curious expression, as well as long legs that give them a wild and athletic look. This breed is renowned for its intelligence and active nature, they are endlessly curious and love to explore their environment! The history of the Bengal dates back to the early 1980s when they were selectively bred with the Asian Leopard Cat to create a hybrid breed with its own unique physical characteristics. Since then, the Bengal has become an increasingly popular companion for families due to its striking appearance and history of the Birman dates back to the 1930s when it was selectively bred from wild cats in Southeast Asia. Since then, the Birman has become increasingly popular as a companion pet due to its unique physical characteristics and friendly personality. Furthermore, they are also known for being highly intelligent and trainable they enjoy learning new tricks, playing games with their owners or just snuggling up on the couch! Bombay is a medium-sized breed of domestic cat with a lush, short black coat. Known for their intelligence and active nature, they also have friendly and affectionate personalities. Bred from sable Burmese cats in the 1950s, the Bombay has an elegant, graceful appearance with almond-shaped eyes, large ears set wide apart on its head and a muscular body giving it an athletic look. This breed is also highly curious and loves to explore their environment they can often be found fetching with their owners or opening cupboards in the house! The Bombay is a loyal companion who enjoys attention, making them ideal for families who appreciate their unique physical characteristics and friendly personality. They are also known for being highly intelligent and trainable they enjoy learning new tricks, playing games with their owners or just curling up on the couch for some cuddles! Brazilian shorthair The Brazilian shorthair is an elegant and graceful breed of domestic cats with a soft and silky coat that comes in various colors including grey, white, and black. They have large almond-shaped eyes and long, slender legs giving them an athletic look. The Brazilian shorthair is renowned for its playful and affectionate nature they love to explore their environment, often playing fetch with their owners or opening cupboards in the house!The history of the breed dates back to the early 1900s when they were selectively bred in Brazil from other longhaired breeds. Since then, the Brazilian shorthair has become a popular companion for families who appreciate its unique physical characteristics and friendly personality. They are also known for being highly intelligent and trainable they enjoy learning new tricks, playing games with their owners or just curling up on the couch for some cuddles! British Shorthair is a medium-sized breed of domestic cats with a lush, short coat. Typically, the fur has a blueish-gray hue with copper eyes and white legs. This breed is renowned for some cuddles! British Shorthair is a medium-sized breed of domestic cats with a lush, short coat.
its gentle, loving nature and tendency to form a strong bond with its owners. British Shorthairs are also highly intelligent and active cats who love to explore their environment and play games. They have round faces with wide-set eyes that give them an alert expression, and they have short legs and strong bodies that make them surprisingly agile. The history of the British Shorthair dates back to the 19th century when they were selectively bred in England from native European wild cats. Since then, this breed has become increasingly popular as a companion pet due to its endearing personality and attractive looks. Furthermore, they are also known for being highly intelligent and trainable they enjoy learning new tricks, playing games with their owners or just snuggling up on the couch! British Longhair is a medium-sized breed of domestic cats with a long, silky coat. Typically, their fur has a bluish-gray hue with copper eyes, white legs and a cute tuft of fur around the neck. This breed is renowned for its friendly personality and tendency to form strong bonds with its owners. British Longhairs are also highly intelligent, active cats who love exploring their environment. They have round faces with wide-set eyes that give them an alert expression, and they have long legs and strong bodies that make them surprisingly agile. The history of the British Longhair dates back to the 19th century when they were selectively bred in England from native European wildcats. Since then, this breed has become increasingly popular as a companion pet due to its endearing personality and attractive looks. Furthermore, they are also known to be incredibly smart and trainable they can learn tricks just like a dog!California spangledThe California Spangled is a unique breed of medium-sized domestic cats with a short, slender coat and a distinctive striped pattern. They usually have coats that range from gray to white, combined with copper eyes and black stripes. This breed is known for its gentle disposition and loving nature they tend to form strong bonds with their owners and are considered very loyal companions. California Spangleds also have an alert expression due to their round faces and wide eyes, and they have long legs and strong bodies that make them surprisingly agile. The history of the breed goes back to the 1980s when they were selectively bred in the United States as an attempt to create a designer cat. Since then, this breed has become increasingly popular as a companion pet due to its loving personality and attractive looks. Furthermore, California Spangleds are highly intelligent, affectionate cats who enjoy playing games with their owners or curling up on laps for cuddles! Chartreux is a medium-sized breed of domestic cats with a short, thick coat that can range in color from gray to blue. This breed is known for its calm and gentle temperament, often forming strong bonds with their owners. They have round faces with wide eyes that give them an alert expression, and they have long legs and strong bonds with their owners. They have round faces with wide eyes that give them an alert expression, and they have long legs and strong bonds with their owners. the Chartreux dates back to the 16th century when they were selectively bred in France from native European wildcats. Since then, this breed has become increasingly popular as a companion due to its pleasant personality and unique blue hue. They are also renowned for their intelligence many are able to learn tricks like retrieving or playing hide-and-seek!ChausieThe Chausie is a medium-sized breed of domestic cats with a short, thick coat that can range in color from light brown to black. They are known for their playful, affectionate, and intelligent nature and are devoted companions that like to be close to their owners. The Chausie has an alert expression due to its round face and wide eyes, and it has long legs and a strong body that make it surprisingly agile. The history of the breed dates back thousands of years to Ancient Egypt, where it was selectively bred from the jungle cat. Since then, the Chausie has become increasingly popular as a companion due to its energetic personality and unique looks. They are also sought after for their intelligence many Chausies can learn complex tricks such as retrieving or hiding objects! Colorpoint shorthair is a medium-sized breed of domestic cats with a short, silky coat that can range in color from black to red. This breed is known for its gentle nature and inquisitive mind, as they love to explore their surroundings and interact with their owners. They have round faces with wide eyes that give them an alert expression, and they have long legs and strong bodies that make them surprisingly agile. The history of the Colorpoint Shorthair dates back to the 1950s when they were selectively bred in England from Siamese cats. Since then, this breed has become popular as a companion due to its friendly personality and attractive looks. Their coats can come in many different shades, including chocolate, lilac, silver tabby, and blue cream, giving them an aura of royalty. Colorpoint Shorthairs are also highly intelligent cats they can be trained to do tricks such as retrieving or performing simple give them an alert expression, and long legs and strong bodies that make them surprisingly agile. The history of the Cornish Rex dates back to the 1950s when a spontaneous mutation occurred in Cornwall, England. Since then, this breed has become increasingly popular as a companion due to its loving personality and unique looks. Their coats come in many variations such as red tabby, blue tabby, blue tabby, blue tabby, blue tabby, brown tabby and more giving them a one-of-a-kind appearance. Furthermore, they are highly intelligent cats that can be trained to perform simple tasks or play games like retrieving on command! Cymric is a medium-sized breed of domestic cats with a long, silky coat that can range in color from gray or blue to orange or cream. This breed is known for their calm gentle nature and strong bond with their owners. They have short legs and muscular bodies that make them surprisingly agile. The history of the Cymric dates back to the 14th century when they were selectively bred on the Isle of Man, off the coast of Great Britain. Since then, this breed has become increasingly popular as a companion due to its devoted personality and attractive looks. Their coats come in many variations such as smokey, tabby patterned, tortoiseshell and more giving them a regal appearance! Additionally, Cymrics are highly intelligent cats that can be trained to perform complex tricks such as retrieving or executing simple tasks on command. Cyprus The Cyprus is a medium-sized breed of domestic cats with a long, silky coat that can range from gray or blue to orange or cream in color. This breed is known for their gentle, calm nature and strong bond with their owners.
They have large eyes that are spaced widely apart and short legs and muscular bodies which make them surprisingly agile. Furthermore, they boast a wide range of colors in their coats such as chocolate tabby, red tabby, and tortoiseshells which give them a regal appearance. The history of the Cyprus dates back to the 14th century when they were selectively bred on the island of Cyprus off the coast of Greece. Since then, this breed has become increasingly popular as an ideal companion due to its devoted personality and elegant looks. In addition, Cypriots are also highly intelligent cats that can be trained to perform complex tricks such as retrieving or executing simple tasks on command. Devon RexThe Devon RexThe Devon Rex is a medium-sized breed of domestic cats with a short, curly coat that can range from white to black in color. Known for its affectionate and playful personality, these cats are highly interactive and love spending time with their owners. They have large ears, almond-shaped eyes that give them an alert expression, and muscular bodies that make them surprisingly agile. The history of the Devon Rex dates back to the 1960s when a spontaneous mutation occurred in Devon, England. Since then, this breed has become increasingly popular as a companion due to its loving personality and unique looks. Their coats come in many variations such as red tabby, blue tabby, silver tabby, brown tabby and more giving them a regal appearance! In addition to being popular pets, Devon Rex cats are also highly intelligent felines that can be trained to perform tricks or execute simple tasks on command. Donskoy is a medium to large breed of domestic cats with a delicate, soft coat that can range from white to black in color. Known for their loving, gentle personalities and strong bond with their owners, these cats have almond-shaped eyes which give them an alert expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them an alert expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them an alert expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them an alert expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them an alert expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them an alert expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them an alert expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them an alert expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them an alert expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them are specifically expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them are specifically expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them are specifically expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them are specifically expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them are specifically expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them are specifically expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give them are specifically expression and large ears and muscular bodies which give the given by the specific expression and the specific expression on-Don in Russia. Since then, this breed has become increasingly popular as a companion due to its devoted personality and unique looks. Their coats come in many variations such as white, calico, smokey, tabby patterned and more giving them a regal appearance! In addition to being popular pets, Donskoys are also highly intelligent cats that can be trained to perform complex tricks or execute simple tasks on command. They are known for their curiosity and playful nature making them highly interactive with those around them allowing for an unparalleled level of closeness between human and pet. Dragon LiThe Dragon LiThe Dragon Li is a medium-sized breed of domestic cats with a short, glossy coat that can range from yellow to red in color. They are renowned for their gentle, affectionate personalities and strong bond with their owners. This breed has almond-shaped eyes giving them an alert expression, and large ears along with muscular bodies that make them surprisingly agile. The history of the Dragon Li dates back to the end of the 19th century in China, where it was selectively bred for its regal appearance. Since then, this breed has become increasingly popular as a companion due to its loving personality and stunning looks. Their coats come in many variations such as cream tabby, silver tabby, calico and more giving them an air of royalty! In addition to being beloved pets, Dragon Li cats are also highly interactive with their owners forging deep bonds and special relationships between human and pet.Dwelf is a rare breed of domestic cats known for its unique combination of physical features. It has a short, glossy coat that can range from yellow to red, large ears and paw-like bodies which make them incredibly agile, and almond-shaped eyes which give them an alert expression. They are also characterized by their loving, gentle personalities and strong bond with their owners. The history of the Dwelf dates back to around 2008 when the first litter was bred in the United States through a combination of several other breeds. Since then, this breed has become increasingly popular as a companion due to its affectionate nature and unusual looks. In addition to being popular pets, Dwelf cats are also highly intelligent felines that can be trained to perform complex tricks or execute simple tasks on command. Furthermore, they possess an active curiosity and playful nature making them incredibly interactive with their owners forging deep bonds and special relationships between human and pet. Egyptian Mau is a unique and majestic breed of domestic cats, originally hailing from ancient Egypt. This medium-sized cat has a short, glossy coat that can range from silver to black in color, large ears and almond-shaped eyes giving it an alert expression. It is also characterized by its loving, gentle personality and strong bond with its owners. The history of the Egyptians. Nowadays this breed is highly popular as a companion due to its devoted nature and striking appearance. In addition to being popular pets, Egyptian Maus are also highly intelligent felines that can be trained to perform complex tricks or execute simple tasks on command. They possess an active curiosity and lively temperament making them incredibly interactive with their owners forging deep bonds and special relationships between human and pet. European Shorthair The European Shorthair is a medium-sized breed of domestic cats with a short, glossy coat that can range from grey to brown in color. They are known for their loving, gentle personalities and strong bond with their owners. This breed has almond-shaped eyes giving them an alert expression, large ears, and paw-like bodies which make them surprisingly agile. The history of the European Shorthair dates back to 1758 when it was first imported from Turkey and selectively bred for its beautiful appearance. Since then this breed has become increasingly popular as a companion due to its affectionate nature and stunning coat variations including tabby, silver-tipped, calico and more making them look regal. In addition to being popular pets, European Shorthairs are also highly intelligent felines that can be trained to perform complex tricks or execute simple tasks on command. Furthermore, they are curious and have active temperaments making them incredibly interactive with their owners forging deep bonds and special relationships between human and pet. Exotic Shorthair The Exotic Shorthair is an elegant and majestic breed of domestic cats with a short, glossy coat that can range from black to silver in color. This breed is characterized by its large eyes and ears giving it an alert expression, as well as its strong bond with its owners. The history of the Exotic Shorthair dates back to the late 1950s when a Persian cat was crossed with an American Shorthair to create this unique breed. Since their stunning appearance their coats come in many variations including tabbies, calicos and bicolors. In addition to being popular pets, Exotic Shorthairs are highly intelligent felines that can be trained to perform complex tricks or execute simple tasks on command. They possess an active curiosity and lively temperaments making them incredibly interactive with their owners forging deep bonds and special relationships between human and
pet. Foldex The Foldex is a unique and majestic breed of cats, originating from Scotland. They are characterized by their medium-sized frame, large eyes and ears, and plush coats that can range from black to silver in color. The history of the Foldex dates back to the 1990s when it was developed by crossing a Scottish Fold with an Exotic Shorthair.
This combination created a breed that is both breathtakingly beautiful and incredibly intelligent. In addition to their loving and devoted personalities, Foldex cats also possess impressive agility they can jump up to five times their own height! As companions, these cats are excellent companions due to their affectionate nature and loyalty to their owners. They have an active curiosity and lively temperament making them incredibly interactive with people forging deep bonds between human and pet. Furthermore, they are highly trainable felines who can be taught complex tricks or execute simple tasks on command. German Rex is a medium-sized breed of cat characterized by its silky, curly coat, large round eyes and prominent ears. This breed has an unique history, as it was first discovered in the 1920s in Germany when a litter of cats exhibited the unusual trait of having curly fur. Since then, the breed has been developed and refined over the years resulting in its current appearance boasting a short snout, rounded face and distinctive slanted eyes. It is known to be an affectionate breed with a calm character making it an ideal companion for those looking for an intelligent felines that can be trained to perform complex tricks or execute simple tasks on command. In addition to their friendly nature. they are very curious creatures that often exhibit active behaviors such as playfulness and attentiveness towards their owners forging deep bonds between human and pet. Havana Brown is a magnificent and unique breed of cats, originally from Cuba. With its deep-green eyes and sleek, glossy black coat, the Havana Brown is a striking beauty. As a companion, this breed has a gentle and loving personality, making it an excellent choice for those looking for a devoted and affectionate feline friend. The history of the Havana Brown dates back to the 1950s, when it was selectively bred from solid black cats to create this distinctive breed. This cat breed is highly intelligent and often guickly learns commands and shows impressive agility in their jumps. With its endearing looks and loyal character, the Havana Brown makes an outstanding companion that brings joy into any home. Highlander the Havana Brown makes an outstanding companion that brings joy into any home. Highlander the Havana Brown makes an outstanding companion that brings joy into any home. Highlander the Havana Brown makes and loyal character, the Havana Brown makes and outstanding companion that brings joy into any home. Highlander the Havana Brown makes and loyal character, the Havana Brown makes and loyal character with hair, ranging from russet to silver in color. The history of the Highlander dates back to the 1980s when it was developed by crossing American Longhairs and Oriental Shorthairs. From this combination arose a strong and courageous breed that is known for their curiosity and intelligence. In addition to their impressive physical features, Highlander cats are also known for their loving and loyal personalities they form strong bonds with their owners and have a playful character that makes them great companions. Furthermore, these cats can be trained to perform complex tricks or execute simple tasks on command due to their high level of intelligence. Himalayan The Himalayan is an incredibly beautiful cat breed, cherished for its unique looks and personality. This breed is characterized by its semi-long coat, which can range from cream to tabby in color, and their large blue eyes. Its history dates back to the 1950s when it was developed by breeding Persian cats with Siamese cats. As a result of this combination, an affectionate and loyal breed emerged that is known for its intelligence and social nature. Himalayans are also highly trainable cats that form strong bonds with their owners, making them excellent companions for those looking for an intelligent and devoted feline friend. Their beauty is enchanting as they possess a regal presence that will bring joy into any home. Japanese Bobtail The Japanese Bobtail is an incredibly striking cat breed, renowned for its distinctive short, curled tail and endearing eyes. This breed is celebrated for its intelligence and playful nature, making it an ideal companion for those looking for an active and affectionate feline friend. The Japanese Bobtail has a history that dates back centuries in Japan, where they were honored as symbols of luck and prosperity. With its short coat that comes in various colors ranging from white to black or even silver, this breed is easily recognizable by its unique tail shape and large expressive eyes. What truly sets the Japanese Bobtail apart is its personality these cats are highly intelligent and full of energy often displaying impressive agility in their jumps and forming strong bonds with their owners. Javanese/ Javanese is a unique and captivating cat breed, treasured for its exotic beauty and intelligence. Its coat is semi-long and can vary in color from cream to tabby, while its eyes are large and blue. Its history dates back centuries when it was first developed by crossing Persian cats with Siamese cats. As a companion, the Javanese is an affectionate and loyal breed known for forming strong bonds with its owners. They are highly trainable cats that love to learn new tricks and commands, often displaying impressive agility in their jumps. The Javanese also has an active personality which makes them great fun to play with; these cats have a playful character that can bring joy into any home. Moreover, the Javanese possesses a regal presence which adds grace and elegance to any environment. What is a rare and captivating cat breed, unmistakably distinguished by its striking appearance. This breed is characterized by its semi-long white coat with golden flecks, clear blue or amber eyes, and a black tail with white tips attributes that give it an exotic beauty that is truly mesmerizing. Its history dates back centuries to Thailand, where they were believed to bring luck and prosperity. As a companion, the Khao Manee is an intelligent and loyal breed that forms strong bonds with its owners. These cats are highly trainable and enjoy learning new tricks and commands; they are also known for their playful nature and impressive agility in their jumps. With a remarkable combination of intelligence, loyalty, grace and beauty the Khao Manee makes an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. Korat The Korat is an ancient cat breed that has been cherished for centuries throughout Thailand. It is easily recognizable by its unique coat of silver-tipped bluish gray fur, often referred to as raincloud gray in the breed standard. This short-haired beauty also has a pair of stunning green eyes and a heart-shaped face, making it a truly captivating creature. Despite its small stature, the Korat is known for its big personality that exudes intelligence, curiosity, and playfulness. This breed forms strong bonds with its owners and can be very affectionate when given the proper attention and care. Its history dates back more than 600 years in Thailand, where it was originally bred as a gift to royalty. It is said that the Korat brings good luck to its owners which is why it was once highly valued. Nowadays, these cats remain a beloved pet that can bring joy and love into any home. Kurilian Bobtail is a unique and delightful cat breed known for its charming personality and striking appearance. This breed has a short, soft coat that comes in various colors including white, silver, tabby and black. Along with its attractive coloring, the Kurilian Bobtail distinguishes itself from other breeds with its signature tail; it has an extremely plump tail with a curl at the end giving it an unmistakable shape. In terms of personality, this breed is known to be very intelligent and loyal to their owners, forming strong bonds with them. They are also active cats that enjoy playing and learning new tricks displaying impressive agility in their jumps. The history of the Kurilian Bobtail goes back more than 300 years when it was first developed by crossing Russian Blues cats with local wild cats on the Kuril Islands of Russia. Nowadays these cats are still highly prized for their intelligence, loyalty and exotic beauty making them an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. Korean Bobtail is a unique and captivating cat breed, characterized by its short coat in various colors including white, silver, tabby and calico. This breed also has an unmistakable tail that is slightly curved at the end, giving it an almost fox-like appearance. In terms of personality, the Korean Bobtail is known to be highly intelligent and learning new tricks; they display impressive agility in their jumps. In terms of history, this breed goes back hundreds of years in Korea, where it was traditionally used as a working cat on farms. Nowadays these cats are still highly prized for their intelligence and loyalty making them an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. LaPermThe LaPermThe LaPermThe LaPermThe traditionally used as a working cat on farms. Nowadays these cats are still highly prized for their intelligence and loyalty making them an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. LaPermThe LaPermThe LaPermThe LaPermThe LaPermThe traditionally used as a working cat on farms.
has a unique look, with tight curls or waves over its entire body giving it an almost lamb-like appearance. In terms of color, the LaPerm can come in various shades including white, black and brown. Its eyes are usually bright blue or yellow and it has large ears that stand upright on either side of its head. The LaPerm is known to be intelligent and affectionate towards its owners forming strong bonds with them. They are active cats who enjoy playing, learning new tricks and displaying impressive agility in their jumps. This breed originated in the United States in the 1980s after a spontaneous mutation occurred in a litter of barn cats from Oregon. Nowadays these cats are still highly prized for their intelligence and playful loving nature making them an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. Lykoi The Lykoi also has large, almond-shaped eyes of green, yellow or orange color giving it an almost wildcat look. In terms of personality, the Lykoi is affectionate and loyal to their owners forming strong bonds with them. They are also active cats who enjoy playing and learning new tricks; they display impressive agility in their jumps. The history of the Lykoi goes back to 2010 when it was first developed by breeding domestic shorthairs with feral cats in Tennessee, USA. Nowadays these cats are still highly prized for their distinct appearance and loving nature making them an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. Maine Coon is a majestic and highly sought-after breed that has been around for centuries. Its silky coat comes in many colors, such as white, black, tabby or calico, and it has a large body with long legs and a bushy tail giving it an almost wildcat look. In terms of personality, the Maine Coon is known to be gentle and loving towards its owners forming strong bonds with them. They are also active cats that enjoy playing and learning new tricks; they display impressive agility in their jumps. The history of this breed goes back hundreds of years in North America, where it was traditionally used for pest control on farms. Nowadays these cats are still highly prized for their intelligence, loyalty and unique beauty making them an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. Manx The Manx is a unique and captivating breed, distinguished by its short fur in a variety of colors and its distinctive curly tail. In terms of personality, the Manx is a unique and learning new tricks; they display impressive agility in their jumps. This breed has an unmistakable look, with large ears that stand upright on either side of its head and bright blue or yellow eyes. The history of the Manx goes back hundreds of years to the Isle of Man off the coast of England, where it was believed these cats were sent down from Noahs Ark as a special blessing for the islanders.
```

```
Nowadays these cats remain popular for their intelligence, loyalty and exotic beauty making them an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. Mekong Bobtail is a unique breed of cat originating from Thailand, known for its distinctive short tail. This breed has a medium-sized body and a coat that comes in black, white, tabby, and other colors. The Mekong Bobtail also has large almond-shaped eyes that come in blue, green, or yellow giving them an exotic look. In terms of personality, the Mekong Bobtail is known to be intelligent and independent yet still loving and loyal to their owners. They are famed for their impressive agility and often use their short tails to help them make sharp turns when playing. The history of this breed dates back to the beginning of the 19th century, when it was believed that these cats were gifts from traders on the Mekong River in Southeast Asia. Nowadays these cats remain highly prized for their intelligence and friendly nature making them an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. Munchkin The Munchkin is a unique and endearing breed, distinguished by its short legs. This breed has a medium-sized body covered in fur of different colors and patterns, such as tabby or calico. The Munchkin also has large ears that stand upright on either side of its head and expressive eyes that come in many hues such as blue or yellow. They are active cats that enjoy playing and learning new tricks. The history of this breed dates back to the early 1990s in Louisiana, USA, where two short-legged cats were first breed together giving rise to this distinct breed. Nowadays these cats remain popular for their loving personalities and small size making them an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. Minskin The Minskin is an incredibly unique breed of cat, characterized by their short-legged stature and thick fur. This breed has an energetic and inquisitive personality, often displaying impressive agility with their strong and muscular legs. They have a distinct look too, with a small body covered in a thick coat of various colors and patterns such as tabby or calico; large ears that stand upright on either side of their head; and expressive eyes that come in many hues such as blue or yellow. In terms of history, the Minskin was first bred in Massachusetts in 1998 by crossing the Munchkin cat with other breeds including the Devon Rex, Sphynx, Burmese, and American Curl. Nowadays these cats remain popular for their intelligence, loyalty, and playfulness making them an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. They are also known to be quite independent yet still loving towards their owners giving them an air of exotic beauty that can make any home feel a little brighter. Minuet The Minuet is an incredibly unique breed of cat, characterized by its short and stocky stature. This breed has an affectionate personality that displays loyalty and intelligence to its owners. The Minuet also has a distinct look; its small body is covered in a thick and soft fur in various colors and patterns such as tabby or calico; it has large ears that stand upright on either side of its head, and expressive eyes that come in many hues such as blue or yellow. In terms of history, the Minuet was first bred in the early 2000s in Ohio as a result of crossing Persian cats with Munchkins. Nowadays these cats remain popular for their loving nature and affectionate personalities making them an excellent companion that can bring joy into any home. They are also known to be highly agile, often using their short legs to make sharp turns when playing. Nebelung The N owners. The Nebelung also has a distinct look; its medium-sized body is covered in a thick and glossy coat in shades of grey, sometimes with flecks of silver; it has large ears that stand upright on either side of its head, and expressive eyes that come in many hues such as green or blue. In terms of history, the Nebelung was first developed in the 1980s in Germany by crossing Russian Blue cats with British Shorthair cats. Nowadays these cats remain highly valued for their affectionate nature forming a strong bond with their owners as well as their intelligence and friendly disposition. They are also known for their impressive agility and often use their long legs to make sudden turns when playing. Norwegian Forest catThe Norwegian Forest Cat is a beautiful and unique breed, characterized by its long body and luxurious coat. This breed has an energetic and independent personality, displaying loyalty and intelligence to its owners. Its medium-sized body is covered with a thick, long coat in shades of brown, grey or black; it has large ears that stand upright on either side of its head, and expressive eyes that come in many hues such as green or blue. In terms of history, this breed has been around for more than 4000 years! It is believed that the Norway. Nowadays these cats remain highly valued for their affectionate nature forming a strong bond with their owners as well as their intelligence and friendly disposition. They are also known for their impressive agility and often use their long legs to make sudden turns when playing. OcicatThe Ocicat is a unique and distinctive breed of cat, characterized by its muscular body and spotted coat. This breed has an outgoing personality that displays intelligence, loyalty, and forms a strong bond with its owners. It has a distinct appearance with beautiful spots of various colors such as brown or black; it has large ears that stand upright on either side of its head and expressive eyes that come in many hues such as blue or orange. In terms of history, the Ocicat was first developed in the 1960s in the United States by crossing the Abyssinian cat with Siamese cats remain highly valued for their negality to understand commands as well as their regality to understand commands as their regality to understand commands as the regality to the regality to th beauty. They are also renowned for their impressive agility and often use their strong legs to make sharp turns when playing. Oriental BicolorThe and forms a strong bond with its owners. It has a distinct appearance with its medium-sized body covered with two colors usually black or brown with white accents around the face, feet, and tail; it has large ears that stand upright on either side of its head and expressive eyes that come in many hues such as blue or orange. The Oriental Bicolor was first developed in England in the 19th century by crossing Siamese cats with British Shorthairs. Nowadays these cats remain highly valued for their intelligence and playful nature they are known for their ability to understand commands as well as their unique beauty. They are also renowned for their impressive agility and often use their strong legs to make sharp turns when playing. Oriental Longhair The Oriental Longhair is a beautiful breed of cat, characterized by its long body and luxurious silky coat. This breed has an extroverted personality, displaying intelligence, loyalty and forming a strong bond with its owners. Its medium-sized body is covered with thick, long fur in shades of white, red or black; it has large ears that stand upright on either side of its head and expressive eyes which come in many hues such as green or blue. In terms of history, this breed was developed in the 20th century when Persian cats were selectively bred with Angoras and British Shorthairs to achieve the desired longhaired look. Nowadays these cats remain highly sought after for their affectionate nature forming a strong bond with their owners as well as their intelligence and friendly demeanor. They are also renowned for their impressive agility, often using their long legs to make sharp turns when playing. The Oriental Longhair is also known for its beautiful coat which needs to be regularly groomed to maintain its luxurious appearance. Oriental Shorthair is an intriguing breed of cat, characterized by its muscular body and short coat. This breed has an extroverted personality, displaying intelligence, loyalty and forming a strong bond with its owners. Its medium-sized body is covered with a dense, short coat in shades of white, red or black; it has large ears that stand upright on either side of its head and expressive eyes which come in many hues such as green or blue. In terms of history, this breed was first developed in the 1970s when Siamese cats were selectively bred with British Shorthairs to achieve the desired shorthaired look. Nowadays these cats remain
highly sought after for their affectionate nature forming a strong bond with their owners as well as their intelligence and friendly demeanor. They are also renowned for their impressive agility, often using their strong legs to make sharp turns when playing. The Oriental Shorthair is also easy to care for due to its short coat, making it an ideal pet for
busy households who don't have time for lengthy grooming sessions. Ukranian Levkoy is a unique and captivating breed of cat, characterized by its distinctive folded ears. This breed has an extroverted and friendly personality, displaying intelligence, loyalty and forming a strong bond with its owners. Its medium-sized body is covered with a short coat in shades of white, black or grey; it has large ears that are folded downwards on either side of its head and expressive eyes which come in many hues such as green or blue. In terms of history, the Ukrainian Levkoy was developed in Ukraine in the early 2000s when Scottish Folds were selectively bred with various other breeds to produce the desired folded ear character. Nowadays these cats remain highly sought after for their affectionate nature forming a strong bond with their owners as well as their intelligence and friendly demeanor. They are also renowned for their impressive agility, often using their strong legs to make sharp turns when playing. The Ukrainian Levkoy is low-maintenance due to its short coat, making it an ideal pet for busy households who dont have time for lengthy grooming sessions. Persian cat is one of the most beloved and recognizable breeds in the world. This majestic feline has an unmistakable regal presence, characterized by its thick, long coat, round face with a short muzzle, and large, soulful eyes. In terms of history, this breed dates back to the 1600s when it was first developed in Iran and then subsequently brought to Europe. Nowadays Persians remain highly sought after for their affectionate nature forming a strong bond with their owners as well as their intelligence and friendly demeanor. They are also renowned for their impressive agility, often using their strong legs to make sharp turns when playing. But above all Persians are cherished for their luxurious coat which needs to be groomed regularly in order to retain its softness and beauty. Therefore, these cats remain an ideal pet choice for those who can commit to giving them the pamperince for their luxurious coat which needs to be groomed regularly in order to retain its softness and beauty.
they deserve! PeterbaldThe PeterbaldThe Peterbald is an extroverted and friendly personality, showing intelligence, loyalty and forming a strong bond with its owners. Its medium-sized body is visible in shades of white, black, cream or red; it has large ears that stand upright on either side of its head and expressive eyes which come in various colors such as green or blue. In terms of history, the Peterbald was developed in Russia during the late 1990s when Oriental Shorthairs were selectively bred with Donskoy cats to create the desired hairless look. Nowadays these cats remain highly valued for their intelligence and affectionate nature they are renowned for forming a very strong bond with their owners as well as their friendly demeanor. They are also known for their impressive agility, often using their strong legs to make sharp turns when playing. Although care needs may vary depending on the individual cats coat type, the Peterbald is generally low-maintenance due to its short coat, making it an ideal pet choice for busy households who dont have time for lengthy grooming sessions. Pixie-bob is a unique and eye-catching breed of cat, characterized by its distinctive bobtail and facial markings. With a large, robust body, broad chest and strong legs, this breed has an impressive appearance. Its wild look is further enhanced by its long, thick coat which can come in shades of brown, black, ginger or white, as well as patterns such as spotted or marbled. In terms of history, the Pixie-bob was first developed in the United States in the late 1980s when a farm owner bred his house cats with wild bobcats to produce the desired look. Nowadays these cats remain highly valued for their affectionate nature forming a strong bond with their owners and for their impressive agility, often using their strong legs to make sharp turns when playing. Additionally, they have minimal care needs due to their short coat, making them an ideal pet choice for busy households who dont have time for lengthy grooming sessions. Ragamuffin The Ragamuffin is an extremely popular and affectionate breed known for its large size, round eyes and long coat. With a muscular body, strong legs and fluffy tail, this cat has an impressive appearance that stands out from other cats. Its long and dense fur can be seen in shades of white, black, blue or cream; it also has extra toes on its feet for added balance and agility; it has a short nose and ears that stand high on the head. In terms of history, the Ragamuffin was developed in the United States in the 1990s when Ragdoll cats were selectively bred with Himalayans to create the desired look. Nowadays these cats remain highly valued for their affectionate nature forming strong bonds with their owners as well as their intelligence and friendly demeanor. They are also renowned for their impressive agility, often using their strong legs to make sharp turns when playing. So if youre looking for a cat that will give you unwavering love and companionship, then a Ragamuffin is definitely something to consider! Ragdoll The Ragdoll is an immensely popular and affectionate breed renowned for its distinctive appearance, devoted nature and plush coat. With a large, muscular body, strong legs and a long, fluffy tail, this cat stands out from the crowd. Its luxuriant fur can be seen in shades of white, black, blue or cream; it also has extra toes on its feet to provide additional balance and agility; plus a short nose and ears that stand high on the head. In terms of history, the Ragdoll was developed in the United States in the 1960s when Birmese cats were selectively bred with Angoras to create the desired look. Nowadays these cats are highly valued for their intelligence and friendly demeanor forming strong bonds with their owners as well as their impressive agility; they often use their strong legs to make sharp turns when playing. Blue Russian is a popular cat breed renowned for its beautiful blue-gray fur and independent character. With a muscular body, strong legs and an elegant tail, this cat stands out from the crowd. Its glossy coat can vary in shades from pale silver to deep charcoal. Its almond shaped eyes are set wide apart on its head and often seem to be smiling. In terms of history, the Blue Russian was first developed in Russia in the 19th century likely by crossing domestic cats with wild Siberian cats. Nowadays they remain highly sought after for their intelligence and friendly disposition forming strong bonds with their owners as well as their agility; they often use their short coat, making them an ideal pet choice for busy households who dont have time for lengthy grooming sessions. Their independent nature also makes them suitable for single person households; they are content spending time on their own while at the same time being incredibly affectionate when it comes time to show love and receive attention. So if youre looking for a smart, devoted companion then a Blue Russian is definitely something worth considering! Savannah cat is a unique and stunning breed that stands out from other cats with its exotic appearance. It has a large, muscular body, long legs, a short tail, and an elongated muzzle. Its coat is usually spotted in shades of gold, brown or black, and some have distinct tabby markings. In terms of history, the Savannah was developed in the United States when African Serval cats were crossed with domestic cats to create the desired look. This breed is renowned for its intelligence and friendly disposition forming strong bonds with their owners as well as their impressive agility; they often use their powerful legs to make sharp turns when playing. They are also low-maintenance when it comes to grooming due to their short coats, making them perfect for busy households who dont have time for lengthy grooming sessions. Scottish Fold is a beloved cat breed that stands out for its unique folded ears that give it an endearing look. This breed has a strong yet muscular body with short legs and a short or long tail. Its coat is usually plain white or pale yellow, but can also be spotted in shades of brown, grey, or black. In terms of history, this breed originated in Scotland when it was discovered that a white barn cat named Susie had folded ears. Since then she was bred with British Shorthairs to achieve the desired look. The Scottish Fold is cherished for its intelligence and sweet temperament forming strong bonds with their owners as well as its agility; they often use their strong legs to make sharp turns when playing. Thanks to their short coats they have minimal care needs making them the perfect pet for busy households who dont have time for long grooming sessions! So if youre looking for an intelligent and devoted companion then a Scottish Fold is definitely worth considering!Selkirk RexThe Selkirk RexThe Selkirk RexThe sold is definitely worth considering!Selkirk RexThe Selkirk RexThe Sel usually plain white or pale yellow, but can also be spotted in shades of brown, grey, or black often with distinct tabby markings. In terms of history, the Selkirk Rex originated in Montana when a domestic cat had a litter of kittens with curly fur which was then bred with British Shorthairs to achieve the desired look. Moreover, these cats have an independent and laid-back character and are renowned for their intelligence and affectionate temperament forming strong bonds with their owners. They are also highly agile; they often use their powerful legs to make sharp turns when playing. Thanks to their low-maintenance coat they are the perfect pet for busy households who dont have time for lengthy grooming sessions! Siamese The Siamese cat is one of the oldest and most beloved breeds in history, having been admired for centuries for its elegance and beauty. This breed is known for its slender, angular body with a long, graceful neck and long legs. Its coat is usually white or cream-colored, with distinct color points on the face, ears, tai and legs that come in shades of chocolate brown or seal point. In terms of history, the Siamese originates from Thailand formerly known as Siam where it was seen as a royal pet. This breed is also renowned for its intelligence and friendly nature forming strong bonds with their owners as well as their acrobatic agility; they often use their powerful legs to make sharp turns when playing. Despite having a short coat, they still need to be brushed regularly to maintain their luxurious look. Thanks to their low maintenance needs, the Siamese cat makes an excellent pet for busy households who dont have time for lengthy grooming sessions! Siberian cat The Siberian Cat is a majestic breed that is known for its large frame, fluffy coat and beautiful green eyes. It has a strong, muscular body with short legs and a long tail that is often tipped in white, cream, brown, silver and even black. Its luxurious coat is thick, long and full making it perfect for colder climates and it needs to be groomed regularly to keep it healthy. In terms of history, the Siberian Cat was first found in the taiga forests of Siberia where it was bred with wild cat species to create this beautiful breed. This cat is also renowned for its intelligence and loving disposition; they form strong bonds with their owners while always remaining independent and dignified. Their low-maintenance grooming requirements make them an ideal pet for busy households who dont have time for lengthy grooming sessions! Singapura cat is a unique breed with its distinctive appearance and intelligence. Its body is small yet muscular, with short legs, a long tail and expressive eyes. Their coat is usually golden-brown in color with tabby markings, and they have a white underbelly. In terms of history, the Singapura originated in Singapore, where it is believed to have been bred between Burmese and British shorthairs resulting in their desired look. This breed has an independent character, but still forms a strong bond with its owners thanks to its affectionate personality.
Despite having a short coat, they still need to be brushed regularly to maintain their luxurious look. Snowshoe is a unique breed that is renowned for its playful and affectionate personality, as well as its distinctive appearance. This cat has a medium-sized body with a thick, silky coat and white front paws that resemble snowshoes. In terms of history, the Snowshoe cat was first bred in the United States by a breeder who noticed the distinctive paw markings of these cats in their litters and decided to create a breed to showcase them. Furthermore, this breed is known for its intelligence and independent nature; they form strong bonds with their owners while always remaining dignified. Additionally, these cats are highly agile; they often use their powerful legs to make sharp turns when playing or exploring them an ideal pet for busy households who dont have time for lengthy grooming sessions! Sokoke The Sokoke is an elegant and mysterious breed of cat, with a unique coat pattern. It has an athletic build, with slender legs and a long, plumed tail. Its coat is short and coarse, usually in shades of brown or black, with dark stripes running along its back resembling the bark of a tree. In terms of history, the Sokoke originated in Kenya where it was found among the local wild cats and later bred with other native breeds to create this stunning breed. This cat is renowned for its playful nature and intelligence; they enjoy interacting with their owners but also appreciate their independent spirit. Despite having a short coat, the Sokoke still needs to be brushed regularly to maintain its luxurious look. Thanks to their low-maintenance grooming requirements, they make an ideal pet for busy households who dont have time for lengthy grooming sessions! SomaliThe Somali is a medium-sized, semi-longhaired housecat breed that stands out for its unique physical features and entertaining personality. This breed has a slender body with long legs and a bushy tail, as well as an angular head featuring large ears and almond-shaped eyes. They also have a distinct coat; it is of medium length and lightly waved, usually in shades of brown or red with dark stripes running along the back. In terms of history, the Somali was first bred in Great Britain from Abyssinian cats resulting in this desirable breed with its wild look and endearing personality. This breed is known for its social nature; they easily form strong bonds with their owners and enjoy spending time playing and exploring their surroundings. Furthermore, this breed requires regular brushing despite having a semi-long coat to maintain its luxurious look. Their low maintenance requirements make the Somali cat an ideal pet for busy households who dont have time for lengthy grooming sessions! SphynxThe Sphynx is an incredibly unique and striking breed of cat known for its lack of fur. Despite their exotic appearance, these cats still possess the same playful and affectionate personality as other housecats. They have a medium-sized body with large ears almond-shaped eyes, and a wrinkled skin that can range from soft peach to light grey in color. In terms of history, the Sphynx breed was first bred in Toronto, Canada by selectively breeding with various genes that cause hairlessness. This breed was first bred in Toronto, Canada by selectively breeding with various genes that cause hairlessness.
breed. Its coat is usually in black or brown hues with stripes across its back and sides, as well as a white saddle on its chest. In terms of personality, the Suphalak is incredibly curious, intelligent, and interactive they enjoy playing with their owners while also exploring independently. This breed also requires minimal grooming; they should be brushed regularly to keep their coat healthy, but dont require lengthy grooming sessions like other breeds. Historically, this breed was first bred by Thai farmers who wanted cats that could easily catch rats in the rice fields making them excellent hunters with a playful attitude! Thai cat is an exotic and rare breed of cat originating from Thailand.
It has a slender, muscular body with long legs and tail, large ears, and a voluminous black or brown coat with stripes across its back and sides. The most distinctive feature of this breed is the white saddle on its chest. In terms of personality, the Thai cat is incredibly curious and interactive; they love to play with their owners while also exploring independently. This breed requires surprisingly little maintenance; they should be regularly brushed in order to keep their coat healthy! Historically, this breed was first bred by Thai farmers who wanted cats that could easily catch rats in the rice fields giving them excellent hunting skills while retaining a playful attitude! Tonkinese The Tonkinese cat is an exotic and rare breed of domestic cat, originally bred in the United States. This breed has a muscular, medium-sized body with semi-long fur that can range from black to golden brown in color. Its most distinctive feature is its deep blue eyes, which are unique to the breed. In terms of personality, this breed is incredibly loving and interactive they enjoy spending time with their owners and boast an active personality that makes them great playmates. Historically, the Tonkinese cat was first developed in the late 1960s by crossing Siamese and Burmese cats. This resulted in a playful and affectionate pet that loves to spend time with its owners while also enjoying independent exploration making them ideal pets for busy households! Toybob cat is a rare and exotic breed of domesticated cat, originally bred in the United Kingdom. It is a small to medium-sized breed with semi-long fur that typically has a silver sheen. The most distinctive feature of this breed are its large, round eyes which are bright amber in colour. In terms of personality, the Toybob is an affectionate and interactive breed; they enjoy spending time with their owners and playing with interactive toys. This breed also has an independent streak, making them great pets for busy households who dont always have time to give extensive attention. Historically, the Toybob was developed by crossing Oriental Shorthairs and British Shorthairs in the 1920s; this resulted in a playful yet independent pet that loves to spend time with its owners, but also enjoys exploring its environment independently! Toyger cat is an extremely rare and exotic breed of domestic cat, with a distinctive appearance that resembles a miniature tiger. It has medium-sized body with short fur that typically features a distinctive striped pattern in shades of brown and black. Its most striking feature are its large, round eyes which are brightly amber in colour. In terms of personality, the Toyger is an affectionate and interactive breed; they enjoy spending time with their owners and playing with interactive toys. At the same time, they possess an independent streak and prefer to explore their environment alone. Historically, this breed was first developed in the 1980s by crossing Bengal cats with tabby cats in order to create an animal that looked like a tiger but behaved like a domesticated pet. Today, this breed is still popular for its playful yet independent nature making it perfect for busy households who dont have much time for lengthy care or interaction sessions! Turkish Angora is a unique breed of cat that is known for its long and fluffy coat. Its distinctive soft fur can come in a variety of colors such as white, black, blue, red, cream and silver. This breed has enchanting almond-shaped eyes that range from deep blue to golden in color. The most striking feature of the Turkish Angora is an affectionate and interactive breed that enjoys spending time with their family members they are also quite independent and prefer to explore their environment alone. Historically, this breed originated more than 500 years ago in what is now modern day Turkey; it was first introduced to Europe by Dutch traders at the end of the 1800s and quickly gained popularity due to its beautiful appearance and sweet disposition! Turkish VanThe Turkish Van is a unique and beautiful breed of cat, known for its distinctive long and fluffy coat with a white base color and spots in various colors. Its most striking feature are its bright blue eyes which have an enchanting almond-shaped look. This breed also has a long and bushy tail which gives it a graceful and elegant appearance. In terms of personality, the Turkish Van is an affectionate, interactive and independent breed; they enjoy spending time with their owners but also prefer to explore their environment independently. Historically, this breed has existed for centuries; it was first discovered by Dutch traders in the late 1800s in what is now modern day Turkey. They quickly gained popularity their eyes typically have a deep blue or green hue. In terms of personality, the Tiffanie is an affectionate and interactive breed that enjoys spending time with its family members; they possess an independent streak as well and prefer to explore their environment alone. Historically, this breed was first developed in the mid 1880s by crossing English Angoras with Persian cats in the United Kingdom; the resulting breed quickly gained popularity due to its beautiful looks and gentle nature. Today, it is still sought after for its loving yet independent spirit making it perfect for busy households who dont have time for extensive care or interaction sessions! York Chocolate is a unique to its beautiful looks and gentle nature.
breed of cat, renowned for its striking appearance long and silky fur in shades of dark chocolate and creamy beige, with bright golden eyes that give this breed an exotic look. In terms of personality, the York Chocolate is an affectionate breed that enjoys spending time with their owners, but also possesses an independent streak that allows them to explore their environment independently. Historically, this breed was first developed in the early 1800s by crossing shorthair cats from England with Persian cats from England with Persi relatively low maintenance care requirements making it perfect for busy households who dont have time for extensive interaction or care sessions! Hoeveel sterren geef jij dit artikel? Breed of catAmerican BobtailLong-haired form (above); standard coated shorthair (below). Origin United States Breed standardsCFAstandardTICAstandardACFA/CAAstandardAs: LH, SHDomestic cat (Felis catus)The American Bobtail is an uncommon breed of domestic cat which was developed in the late 1960s.[1] It is most notable for its stubby "bobbed" tail about one-third to one-half the length of a normal cat's tail. This is the result of a cat body type genetic mutation affecting the tail development, similar to that of a Manx cat.[1] The breed is not related to other short-tailed breeds, such as the Cymric cat, or the Japanese Bobtail or Kurilian Bobtail, despite the similar name and physical typethe breeding programs are entirely unrelated, and the genetic mutation causing the bobbed tail are known to be different, as the mutation causing the American Bobtail's short tail is dominant; comparatively, the Japanese Bobtail, for example, has a tail mutation that is recessive. [2] American Bobtail's short tail is dominant; comparatively, the Japanese Bobtail, for example, has a tail mutation that is recessive.
strong emphasis on the "wild" tabby appearance in show animals.[1]Urban legend says that Bobtails are the result of a cross breeding between a domestic tabby cat and a wild bobcat. The unusual tail is actually the result of a random spontaneous genetic mutation within the domestic tabby cat and a wild bobcat. The unusual tail is actually the result of a random spontaneous genetic mutation within the domestic tabby cat and a wild bobcat. The unusual tail is actually the result of a random spontaneous genetic mutation within the domestic tabby cat and a wild bobcat.
dominant.[1] Yodie, a short-tailed brown tabby male, was mated with a seal-point Siamese female to create the American Bobtail's original bloodline. Most of the early bloodlines have died out.[1]This cat's original appearance genetics were modified in the breed to form a new and improved strain which comes in essentially all colors and coat types.
The breed was first recognized by The International Cat Association (CFA, also US-based), in 1989. The breed has been accepted for championship competition by TICA, the Cat Fanciers' Association (ACFA).[4][5] The breed is technically also sanctioned in the Cat Aficionado Association (CAA) of China, by virtue of the CAA having adopted all of ACFA's breed standards; it is unknown if any specimens are actually in China. The breed is "recognized" (as existing), as both American Bobtail Longhair and American Bobtail Shorthair, in the Germany-based World Cat Federation (WCF),[6] but is not "accepted" for competition[6] and has no WCF breed standard.[7]American Bobtails require two to three years to develop, slower than many domestic cat breeds.[1]While the typically bobcat- or ocelot-like spotted coat patterning is the most basal coloration seen on the breed, many other colors and patterns exist (both in long and shorthair varieties), including black, blue, brindle, brown, calico, chocolate, cinnamon, fawn, lilac, pied, red-and-cream, peach or orange tabby or tortoiseshell, all with or without varying amounts of all-white fur on the chest, neck, legs or underside. The American Bobtail is hearty, short-tailed cat. Its body is moderately long, with substantial boning, and stocky. The stance is noticeably rectangular. The torso is full and broad. The hips are substantial, almost as wide as chest, and hind legs longer than fore legs with large round feet which may have toe tufts. The head is a broad wedge without flat planes, size proportionate to body. There is a concave curve from nose to brow, or rise to prominent brow, a broad unpinched muzzle, prominent whisker pads, a gently sloped wide nose and full, strong jaws. The ears are medium-sized, wide-based, and equally mounted on top and the side of head with rounded tips. The eyes are almost almond shape, with size proportionate to head. The aperture is angled to base of ear, and with medium wide spacing and deep sockets. Eye color varies with coat color. The end of the tail is visible above the back, but not beyond the hock while the animal is in repose. The tail is straight or curved, slightly knotted or may have bumps.[1] They are considered to be highly adaptable to new environments, making them suitable to new environments.
companions for travelers.[8] According to some sources, the American Bobtail is among the most "dog-like" of any cat breed, boldly greeting visitors to the home and never shying away from a potential opportunity to play, hunt or socialize. They have also been called miniature "ocelots", at least in terms of their climbing abilities, and enjoy exploring jumping, and stalking birds and small animals. It readily comes to humans and other cats and animals for affection, including dogs.[citation needed]^ a b c d e f g h "Cat Breed Profile: American Bobtail". Animal.Discovery.com. Discovery.com. Discovery Communications. Archived from the original on October 5, 2006. Retrieved 12 September 2014.^ "Comparison Japanese Bobtail, Manx and American Bobtail". Fanciers: Japanese Bobtail FAQ. Retrieved 12 September 2014. Archived from the original (PDF) on 25 April 2013. Retrieved 12 September 2014. Bebtail FAQ. Retrieved 12 September 2014. Bebtail Longhair" (PDF).
ACFACat.org. Nixa, Missouri, US: American Cat Fanciers Association (ACFA). May 2007. Archived (PDF) from the original on May 31, 2013. Retrieved 12 September 2014. Retrieved 2014 Breeds in the WCF". WCF-Online.de. Essen, Germany: World Cat Federation (WCF). April 1, 2009. Archived from the original on February 15, 2013. Retrieved 12 September 2014. The specific sections for each competitive division do not include this breed in any of them: long-haired Archived 2021-10-23 at the Wayback Machine, semi-long-haired Archived 2021-10-23 at the Wayback Machine and Siamese & oriental Archived 2021-10-23 at the Wayback Machine.
Bobtail Cat Breed full Profile | A Unique Analysis- 2020 |". Retrieved 2020-10-27.Look up American Bobtail Cat Breed full ProfileAmerican Bobtail Cat VideosAmerican Bobtail Guide Archived 2019-04-28 at the Wayback MachineRetrieved from "AbyssinianShorthairActive, curious, intelligent, outgoing. American BobtailShort and Medium/longhairIntelligent, friendly, intelligent, have read to train American Shorthair and LonghairMischievous, playful, energetic, friendly, intelligent, have read to train American Shorthair and Longhair a WirehairShorthairFriendly, sweet, affectionate, intelligent. Australian MistShorthairActive, playful, friendly. Australian TiffanieLonghairQuiet, loyal, inquisitive, playful, agile, intelligent, outgoing, likes water. BirmanLonghairedInquisitive, playful, affectionate. BengalShorthairActive, playful, agile, intelligent, outgoing, likes water. BirmanLonghairedInquisitive, playful, affectionate. BengalShorthairActive, playful, friendly. BalineseLonghairLoyal, extrovert, energetic, graceful, affectionate. BalineseLonghairLoyal, extrovert, energetic, graceful, extrovert, energetic, graceful, extrovert, extrovert intelligent, friendly BombayShorthairFriendly, outgoing, gentle, confident, playful. British ShorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthairPorthair intelligent, athletic.ChartreuxShorthairGood-natured, friendly, playful, confident, quiet, devoted, gentle. ChausieShorthairIntelligent, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, playful, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, playful, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, playful, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, playful, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, playful, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, playful, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, playful, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, playful, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, playful, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, playful, active, athletic, gets on well with people. CheetohShorthairIntelligent, active, athletic, gets on well with people. The properties of the properties likes to be up high, extrovert, intelligent, inquisitive. Devon RexShorthairedGood-tempered, agile, affectionate, loyal, active. ExoticShorthairedPlacid, gentle, intelligent, inquisitive. Foreign WhiteShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, like high places (shoulders, cupboards etc)Egyptian MauShorthairedEnergetic, friendly, love cuddles, l mischievous.German RexShorthairAffectionate, loving, playful, intelligent, active, playful, intelligent, active, playful, outgoing. HimalayanLonghairDevoted, affectionate, playful, confident, inquisitive.JavaneseLonghairDevoted, affectionate, gentle, quiet, loyal, intelligent, active, playful, outgoing. HimalayanLonghairDevoted, affectionate, gentle, quiet, loyal, intelligent, active, playful, outgoing. talkative, graceful, intelligent, loyal, mischievous. KoratShorthairedIntelligent, quiet, inquisitive, gentle, agile, affectionate. Maine CoonLonghairHardy, gentle, loving, confident, playful, intelligent, good-tempered. MunchkinShorthairedIntelligent, agile, affectionate. Maine CoonLonghairHardy, gentle, loving, confident, playful, intelligent, good-tempered. MunchkinShorthair & LonghairNebelung CatQuiet, reserved, calm, affectionate, intelligent. Norwegian Forest CatLonghairSturdy, intelligent, confident, quiet, intelligent, confident, quiet, intelligent. PersianLonghairEasygoing, sweet-natured, affectionate, gentle, quiet, intelligent. Pixie-bobShort and longPlayful, inquisitive, reasonablyactive, personable. RagamuffinLonghair Gentle, sweet-natured, intelligent, laid back. RagdollLonghair Relaxed, gentle, quiet, loyal, friendly. Russian BlueShorthair Affectionate, alert, intelligent, sweet, curious. Selkirk RexShorthair & LonghairFriendly, playful, relaxed. SiameseDevoted, talkative, graceful, intelligent, loyal, mischievous. SiberianLonghairQuiet, hardy, affectionate, relaxed, gentle, affectionate, playful, energetic. SomaliOutgoing, energetic, playful, good tempered.SphynxHairless, although they do have a peachyfuzz.Loving, sociable, affectionate, cheeky.TonkineseShorthairInquisitive, friendly, mischievous, active, sociable, outgoing.Turkish AngoraMedium to longhairIntelligent, sociable, sweet, gentle.Turkish VanMediumAffectionate, independent, sociable, friendly, intelligent, likes water.
Acomprehensive cat breed list featuring domestic cats. You will findcats with unusual features like short-tailed bobtails and curly earedcats, hybrid cats from domestic cat / wild cat crosses and of course newcat breeds that are still being developed. So, if it is a longhairedpopular cat breed or an exotic hairless cat that tickles your fancy, take a look at these extensive lists of different cat breeds. cats listed alphabetically A TO CCat BreedOriginHow The Breed Came About AAbyssinian Cat breedAfrica (Ethiopia) Natural Breed American Bobtail USATailless stray found on an Indian Reservation. A spontaneous, genetic mutation from a dominant gene resulting in a short tail American Curl USAS pontaneous mutation from a dominant gene resulting in curled ears American WireHair Cat USAS pontaneous mutation from a dominant gene, resulting in a coarse, crimped coat Australian Mist Cat Australia Cross Abyssinian, Burmese and Domestic Tabbies BOriginHow The Breed Came About Balinese Cats FE (Thailand) Semi-longhaired Siamese (Spontaneous mutation) Bambino CatUSAMunchkin crossed with a Sphynx. Visit our Dwarf Cats Page Bengal CatAsia; USA Wild Asian Leopard crossed with a American Shorthair. BirmanFE (Burma); France Siamese with white Chocolate Point Siamese. Possibly a natural breed. Burmilla CatUKChinchilla Persian crossed with Lilac Burmese COriginHow The Breed Came About Californian Spangled USAVarious crosses - Siamese, Manx, Abyssinian, American and British S/H, Asian strays CeylonAsia (Sri Lanka) Natural Breed Chartreux CatEurope (France)
Natural Breed Chausie CatUSAHybrid Cat Breed - cross between the Felis Chaus (Jungle cat) and domestic cats or Abyssinian cat Cornish RexUK (England) Spontaneous mutation from recessive gene, resulting in curly coat. Out cross to Siamese, Burmese and Orientals Cymric (See Manx) UK (Isle of Man); USA Longhaired Manx List of Cat Breeds Index: USA = United States of America; UK = United Kingdom; FE = Far East; ME = Middle East; S/H = Shorthair; L/H = Longhair CONTINUE TO NEXT PAGE... D to M List N to Z List Related Pages: Cat PhotoPictures of Cats Cat Lovers Gifts Guide Top of Cat Breed List
PageReturn to All Cat Breeds Home By Lyn Nunn Copyright 2009-2015 Cat Breeds Junction Rex Egyptian Asian Semi-Longhair British Longhair British Shorthair Burmese Chartreux Cornish Rex Devon Rex Egyptian Mau Exotic Shorthair Korat LaPerm Maine Coon Nebelung Norwegian Forest Ocicat Oriental Shorthair Persian Ragamuffin Ragdoll Russian Blue Selkirk Rex Siamese Siberian Singapura Snowshoe Sphynx Thai Cat (Old-Style Siamese) Tonkinese Toyger Turkish Van Note: This stats include only the most commonly registered cat breeds and may not represent all existing breeds. Affection Level? Breeds with a high affection level want to give and receive a lot of attention, while less-affectionate breeds are not as interested in petting and snuggles. Activity Level? Breeds with high activity levels will engage more in active play and demand more space and attention. Pet-Friendly
? How well the breed tends to get along with cats, dogs, and other pets. Kid-Friendly ? Breeds with a higher rating in this area tend to be gentle and patient, while lower-rated breeds may feel uncomfortable with children. Sociability ? Breeds with a higher sociability rating will want to spend time with you all day, while less-sociable breeds seldom seek out human interaction. Intelligence? Breeds with higher intelligence ratings are more curious, investigative, and easy to train. Less-intelligent breeds are less trainable but often laid-back and easygoing. Playfulness? Breeds that score higher in this area have strong hunting instincts that make them great playtime companions. Independence?
Breeds that score higher in this area are able to spend hours alone, while less-independent breeds require plenty of attention. Vocality? A higher rating in this area indicates a breed prone to plenty of meowing and other vocalizations, while less-independent breeds are happy to stay quiet. Grooming? Breeds with higher grooming scores require more maintenance like brushing and bathing, while lower-scored breeds are virtually maintenance-free. A thick, luxurious coat is only one of the wonderful qualities and gentle yet playful antics. If you're looking for a cat that isn't into impressive displays of athleticism, the Persian might be the perfect breed for you. These cats love to lounge, particularly after they reach adulthood. Perhaps that's why some people are interested in joining the fun. Not prone to excessive mischief, Persians are quiet and well-behaved pets. They aren't into opening drawers and cupboards like their Oriental cousins, and unlike some other breeds such as Siamese and Savannahs, Persians usually don't like walking on leashes and playing fetch. However, they are intelligent cats, capable of learning your routine, greeting you, and of course, curling up for snuggles as part of a daily routine. Even though Persians are expert-level cuddlers, they are not terribly demanding. If you're looking for a cat that is happy to nap while you're gone, and will cheerfully accompany you through your evening routine. Even though Persian a second look. Last but not least, despite having something of a frou-frou reputation, Persians make excellent family pets. They have the ability to get along well with children, other cats, and even dogs. Linn Currie/Shutterstock.com Natalie Shuttleworth/Shutterstock.com Natalie Shuttleworth/S carbohydrate diet that relies on real meat or fish as the main ingredient. Consider choosing a food that contains added Omega fatty acids to support skin and coat health. The Persian cat requires daily grooming sessions to prevent tangles that could eventually form painful mats in its ultra-fine undercoat. Brushing and combing a Persian cat is no simple task. It's vital to comb down to the skin and not just brush along the top of the coat or you might miss tangles. This process is time-consuming, so some Persian cat owners opt to have facial folds that require cleaning once or twice per day, depending on whether the cat is prone to a lot of eye discharge. In addition, brush your Persian cats teeth daily, and trim the nails every few weeks. Persian cats need exercise, but take care not to overdo it, especially in warm weather. Have fun playing with feather wands and lasers, but watch the pace of play and take a break if your Persian cat starts panting or suffering from shortness of breath. Persians appreciate cat towers and window shelves that offer them a good view of everything that's happening in the household and neighborhood, and they like to sink their claws into scratchers, too. Just like other cats, Persians love to play with toys including catnip mice, interesting balls, and little stuffed animals. The Persian is a brachycephalic cat breed, which means it has a push-in face. With the Persian's flattened face come some known health issues associated with flat-faced breeds are an elongated soft palate, narrow disease (PKD). PKD is an inherited disorder that is highly prevalent in the Persian breed as well as related breeds like the Himalayan and Exotic Shorthair. Luckily, a genetic test is available so breeders can avoid passing this devastating disease on to future generations of kittens. The Persian is an ancient breed, with a history that spans thousands of the present of the present in the Persian breed as well as related breeds like the Himalayan and Exotic Shorthair.
years. These catsor cats with a similar appearancecan be seen on hieroglyphics that date back to approximately 1684 BC. However, the exact origins of the breed are unknown since we have no written history this far back. Sometime during the 1600s, an Italian composer and adventurer named Pietro della Valle described Persian cats from the Khorazan region of Persia, noting that most had long, silky, gray coats. His manuscript, known as Voyages de Pietro della Valle, mentions that the cats made their way to France and England. In England, they were called French cats and they quickly gained popularity for their unique appearance and friendly personalities. By the 1900s, Persian catsthen known as Persian because Queen Victoria had two blue Persians and people of the day were heavily influenced by the Queen's personal tastes. I oday, Persians are renowned as North Americas most popular cat preed. The Persian is one of the oldest cat preed type it has been outpaced by the British Shorthair. A Persian cat with a longer nose is called a doll face Persian, and more closely resembles the traditional or old-fashioned Persian cat eye color complements coat color. The legs are short and thick, with an appearance of strength. The paws are round, with prominent tufts between the toes. The tail is short, yet well-proportioned, creating balance with the cats body. Hair creates a full, brush effect. The Persian is well-rounded, yet well-balanced, with a cobby body type and good muscle tone. Most Persians are of medium to large size, with males typically weighing more than females. The head is large and round, and sits on a short neck. Viewed in profile, the Persian cats forehead, nose, and chin appearance are small, with a slightly forward tilt. The tips are round, and furnishings are ample. The coat is long and thick, with a fine texture. A prominent ruff that extends to form a frill between the front legs is desirable. Persians (colorpoint Persians) from other colors and patterns. Nose leather and paw pad color complement the coat color. At Cats.com, we advocate for cat adoption versus buying from breeders. The Persian, like other purebred cats, is seldom seen in shelters and rescues. Try out our Petfinder tool to explore cats who are either confirmed Persian or resemble one. Remember that many shelters incorrectly label moggies non-purebred cats as purebreds. Take a look, and you just might fall in love with a non-purebred rescue cat in need. If you want to purchase a Persian, consider contacting a local breeder for more information. Persian cats tend to be medium in size. A fully grown Persian cat might weigh between $1300 - $3000. Persian cats tend to be medium in size. A fully grown Persian cat might weigh between $1300 - $3000. Persian cats tend to be medium in size. lifespan for Persian is 14-15 years. Persian are long-haired cats, so you do have to expect a certain amount of shedding from this breed, but they don't shed as much as other cat breeds. Help us do better! Was this information helpful and relevant? I am completely satisfied, I found useful information and tips in this article Article was somewhat helpful, but could be improved Cat Breeds Compare Breed Curious, intelligent, social, playful "Peter Pan" of the cat world Small-sized short to medium hair Affection Level? Breeds with a high affection Level? B with high activity levels will engage more in active play and demand more space and attention. Pet-Friendly? Breeds with a higher rating in this area tend to be gentle and patient, while lower-rated breeds may feel uncomfortable with children. Sociability? Breeds with a higher sociability rating will want to spend time with you all day, while less-sociable breeds seldom seek out human interaction. Intelligence ? Breeds with higher intelligence ratings are more curious, investigative, and easy to train. Less-intelligence rating will want to spend time with higher intelligence ? Breeds with higher intelligence ratings are more curious, investigative, and easy to train.
higher in this area have strong hunting instincts that make them great playtime companions. Independence ? Breeds that score higher in this area are able to spend hours alone, while less-independent breeds require plenty of attention. Vocality ? A higher rating in this area indicates a breed prone to plenty of meowing and other vocalizations, while less-vocal breeds are happy to stay quiet. Grooming? Breeds with higher grooming scores require more maintenance like brushing and bathing, while lower-scored breeds are virtually maintenance require more maintenance like brushing and bathing, while lower-scored breeds are virtually maintenance require more maintenance like brushing and bathing, while lower-scored breeds are virtually maintenance require more maintenance like brushing and bathing.
this breed shares any genetics with the Scottish fold, the answer is no. Both breeds are distinct, with different characteristics. Far more sociable than the average cat, these friendly felines like to greet their families at the door and follow them around the house. They like children and they have a tendency to get along well with other pets. American curl cats come in every color and pattern imaginable, in both long and shorthair varieties. They have very little undercoat, and their topcoats tend to feel very soft and silky. In addition to their signature ear shape, the American curl cat is known for having a long, luxurious tail. As you might imagine, American curl cats with very curly ears are often reserved as show cats. Breeders tend to offer cats that have a less pronounced curve to their ear structure as pets. These cats do not have any special nutritional needs. We recommend feeding your American curl cat a high-quality, meat-based diet. Even though these kitties are extraordinarily sweet and friendly, they are still obligate carnivores! Just like all other cats, the American curl does a pretty good job of grooming itself. Treat them to a light brushing a few times per week, regular nail trims, and ear cleaning when necessary. American curl cats are playful and appreciate interactive games with their families. These cats like to play fetch and will quickly learn how to carry small balls, toys, and pieces of crumpled up paper. The American curl may have a unique appearance, but the breed has another common trait that links them to other felines. They love to climb and they need to scratch. Your American curl cat will appreciate a multilevel cat tree, a window perch, and a selection of toys to play with. Since these cats want to be wherever their families are, you may have to initiate play to prevent them from having too much couch time. Don't worry it'll be just as much fun for you as it is for them! As you might imagine, these American curl cats have some special needs when it comes to carring for their ears. The lower portion of the ear cartilage is very stiff and stable, but the upper portion of the ear is thin and fragile. You'll need to use a light touch when clearing away any wax. A gentle ear cleaning solution can help. In addition, pet parents should watch for signs of ear infection. American curl cats can trace their heritage back to a stray, long-haired black female cat that ultimately found a home with a Lakewood, California family in 1981. They named the cat Shulamith and when she gave birth to a litter of kittens six months later, they had unique curled ears like their mother's. Selective breeding began two years later, in 1983. It was discovered that the ear curling gene that gives these cats their distinct appearance is autosomal dominant, meaning any cat with even a single copy of the gene will have the curled ear trait. During initial development of the American curl cat breed, feline geneticist Roy Robinson analyzed all crosses and found no defects. This breed has been an important one ever since then, thanks to its good health, its unique appearance, and its outstanding, friendly personality. American curl kittens are born with straight ears. The ears begin to curl back at about 16 weeks of age. American curls are nicknamed the "Peter Pan of cats" thanks to their tendency to retain kittenish behaviors throughout their lives. American curl cats form strong bonds with their families, often going to great lengths to be in the middle of everything. These cats are unusual in that they're simply not content to find a quiet place away from all the action! If you're looking for a cat that enjoys your companionship, this may be the breed for you. The American curl cat has walnut shaped eyes that are oval on top and the base of the ears, one eye width apart. The legs should be of medium length, with medium boning. The feet should have a rounded shape and should be of medium size. The American curl has a lean, elegant body with moderate muscle mass and a fairly slender build. Females should weigh between five and 8 pounds, and males should weigh between seven and 10 pounds. The head is a modified wedge shape with no flat plains. It is longer than it is wide. The nose should be moderate in length with a straight, slight rise that extends from the bottom of the eyes to the forehead followed by a gentle curve toward the top of the head. The American curl is named for its ears, which have a distinctly curled profile. There should be a minimum of 90 degrees arc of curl and a maximum of 180 degrees arc of curl. The American curl's ears should be moderately large, and they should be moderately large, and they should be wider at the base, with an open shape and rounded, flexible tips. There should be moderately large, and they should be moderately large, a furnishings are desirable. American curl cats may have long or short coats. All colors and patterns are acceptable in both the long and short hair coat divisions. Nose leather and paw pad colors correspond to coat colors. At Cats.com, we advocate for cat adoption versus buying from breeders. The American Curl, like other purebred cats, is seldom seen in shelters and rescues. Try out our Petfinder tool to explore cats who are either confirmed American Curl or resemble one. Remember that many shelters incorrectly label moggies non-purebred cats as purebreds. Take a look, and you just might fall in love with a non-purebred rescue cat in need. If you want to purchase an American Curl, consider contacting a local breeder for more information. American Curl cats cost between $1,000 - $2,000. American Curl cats tend to be small in size. A fully grown American Curl cat might weigh between $1,000 - $2,000. American Curl cats tend to be small in size.
American Curl are short-haired cats. Therefore, they do not shed as much as long-haired cat breeds. Help us do better! Was this information and tips in this article was somewhat helpful, but could be improved Cat Breeds Compare Breed Active, inquisitive, playful, personable Medium-to-large sized shorthair Affection Level? Breeds with a high affection Level? Breeds with high activity levels will engage more in active play and demand more space and attention. Pet-Friendly?
How well the breed tends to get along with cats, dogs, and other pets. Kid-Friendly? Breeds with a higher rating in this area tend to be gentle and patient, while lower-rated breeds may feel uncomfortable with children. Sociability? Breeds with a higher sociability rating will want to spend time with you all day, while less-sociable breeds seldom seek out human interaction. Intelligence? Breeds with higher intelligence ratings are more curious, investigative, and easy to train. Less-intelligence ratings are less trainable but often laid-back and easygoing. Playfulness? Breeds that score higher in this area have strong hunting instincts that make them great playtime companions. Independence? Breeds that score higher in this area have strong hunting instincts that make them great playtime companions. Independence? Breeds that score higher in this area have strong hunting instincts that make them great playtime companions. Independence? that score higher in this area are able to spend hours alone, while less-independent breeds require plenty of attention. Vocality? A higher rating in this area indicates a breed prone to plenty of meowing and other vocalizations, while less-vocal breeds are happy to stay quiet. Grooming? Breeds with higher grooming scores require more maintenance like brushing and bathing, while lower-scored breeds are virtually maintenance-free. Friendly, personable, and easy to care for, the American Shorthair cat shares many things in common with the Domestic Shorthair. The main difference is that American Shorthair cat shares many things in common with the Domestic Shorthair.
cats display various traits from the breeds in their backgrounds. This can cause some confusion as the American Shorthair was originally named the Domestic Shorthair cats have no special nutritional needs in comparison to most other domestic cats. We recommend feeding your American Shorthair cat a healthy, balanced diet of high-quality cat food. American Shorthair cats offer low maintenance in the grooming department. While you can get away with never brushing this cat, we recommend using a fine, or a soft brush to remove loose hair from your pet's coat at least once per week. This helps keep your furniture cleaner, plus it reduces the likelihood of hairballs. American Shorthair cats are moderately active by nature. Without enough exercise, this breed is prone to obesity. You can help prevent this by ensuring that your American Shorthair cat has access to toys, and by encouraging active play. These cats come from a long line of hunters and they appreciate interactive toys and laser beams. Like other cats, the American Shorthair loves to climb. A cat tree will save your drapes from damage while giving your pet the perfect vantage point and a cozy nap spot. While American Shorthair cats generally enjoy good health, they are prone to a few issues, with obesity being the most common. There are two other known health problems that occur in American Shorthairs: Hereditary hip dysplasia affects some members of the breed, and a form of cardiac disease called hypertrophic cardiomyopathy causes some American Shorthairs: Hereditary hip dysplasia affects some members of the breed, and a form of cardiac disease called hypertrophic cardiomyopathy causes some American Shorthairs.
When European colonizers first came to America, they arrived in shipsand they brought cats with them! These hardy mousers were the predecessors to the breed we know and love today as the American Shorthair cat. As time passed, other cat breeds made their way to America, and the American Shorthair began to stand out as a distinct breed with different characteristics that set it apart from the rest. The original bloodline was strengthened by an infusion of British Shorthair DNA. Still, American Shorthair starred in the first cat show ever held in the United States, in 1895.Cat fanciers recorded the first-ever breeding between two American Shorthair cats in 1904. Since then, this breed has remained one of the most popular worldwide and is recognized by The International Cat Association. Whatever your favorite cat color, you're likely to find an American Shorthair to match. There are more than 80 recognized American Shorthair cats have long life expectancies, often exceeding 15 years. The American Shorthair has large, rounded eyes with half-almond shaped upper lids and distinctly rounded lower lids. There should be at least one eye width between the eyes, and the upper corners should be set slightly higher than the lower corners. American Shorthair eye colors vary between gold and green. Blue eyes are also acceptable, as are two different colored eyes. The American Shorthair cat has strong, stocky legs that may appear somewhat short and less elegant than the legs of many other cats breeds. This breed's paws are strong, round, and somewhat wide. Paw pad color typically corresponds to nose leather color, with many different variations depending on the cat's color and pattern. American Shorthair cats have long, proportional tails that are a little wider at the base with a slight taper toward the end. The tail is often carried level or at a slightly upward angle to the body. The American Shorthair exudes power, confidence, and grace. Their bodies are muscular and compact, with a rounded shape that's as cuddly as it is cute. It's easy to distinguish an American Shorthair from a domestic shorthair by looking at the head shape. These cats have distinctly rounded heads with prominent cheeks and fleshy whisker pads. An American Shorthair cat has medium-sized ears with rounded tips, set wide apart on the head and not overly large at the base. This breed has a short but lustrous coat with ample body and an even texture. The coat should appear soft and healthy. American Shorthair cats come in every color and patterns are all acceptable. In all, the breed standard allows more than 80 acceptable American Shorthair colors and patterns. At Cats.com, we advocate for cat adoption versus buying from breeders. The American Shorthair or resemble one.
```

Remember that many shelters incorrectly label moggies non-purebred cats as purebreds. Take a look, and you just might fall in love with a non-purebred rescue cat in need. If you want to purchase an American Shorthair, consider contacting a local breeder for more information. American Shorthair cats cost between $100$1,000. American Shorthair cats tend to be medium in size. A fully grown American Shorthair cat might weigh between 815 pounds or more and range in height anywhere from about 10"14" inches tall. The Average lifespan for American Shorthair is 1217 years. American Shorthair are short-haired cats. Therefore, they do not shed as much as long-haired cat breeds. Help us do better! Was this information helpful and relevant? I am completely satisfied, I found useful information and tips in this article Article was somewhat helpful, but could be improved All A-Z A B C D E H J K L M N O P R S T U Y All A-Z A B C D E H J K L M N O P R S T U Y Heres the complete order of rankings, based on CFAs registration totals during 2018: RagdollLifespan: 12-17 yearsOrigin: United StatesSee Details > GentleQuietFriendlyEasygoing... QuietLovelyWarm pureSweet... Easy GoingFamilyLoyalPatient... PersianLifespan: 14-15 yearsOrigin: Iran (Persia)See Details > GentleSensitiveQuietAbility... GentleIntelligentIndependent... ActiveCuriousEasy GoingPlayful... AffectionateIntelligentLoyalPlayful... EnergeticIndependentIntelligentGentle... CuriousIntelligentCovingPlayful... PlayfulAffectionateCuriousIntelligentLovingPlayful... EnergeticIndependentIntelligentLovingPlayful... EnergeticIndependentIntelligentLovingPlayful... PlayfulAffectionateCuriousIntelligentLovingPlayful... EnergeticIndependentIntelligentLovingPlayful... PlayfulAffectionateCuriousIntelligentLovingPlayful... EnergeticIndependentIntelligentLovingPlayful... PlayfulAffectionateCuriousIntelligentLovingPlayful... PlayfulAffectionateCuriousIntelligentLovingPlayful... EnergeticIndependentIntelligentLovingPlayful... PlayfulAffectionateCuriousIntelligentLovingPlayful... PlayfulAffectiona AgileIntelligentLoyalPlayful... BurmeseLifespan: 15-16 yearsOrigin: Burma, ThailandSee Details > CuriousFamilyIntelligentLivelyPlayful... Cat Breeds Compare Breed Affection Level? Breeds with a high affection level want to give and receive a lot of attention, while less-affectionate breeds are not as interested in petting and snuggles. Activity Level? Breeds with a higher rating in this area tend to be gentle and patient, while lower-rated breeds may feel uncomfortable with children. Sociability ? Breeds with higher intelligence ? Breeds with higher intelligence ratings are more curious, investigative, and easy to train. Less-intelligent breeds are less trainable but often laid-back and easygoing. Playfulness? Breeds that score higher in this area have strong hunting instincts that make them great playtime companions. Independence? Breeds that score higher in this area are able to spend hours alone, while less-independent breeds require plenty of attention. Vocality? A higher rating in this area indicates a breed prone to plenty of meowing and other vocalizations, while less-vocal breeds are happy to stay quiet. Grooming? Breeds with higher grooming scores require more maintenance like brushing and bathing, while lower-scored breeds are virtually maintenance-free. The Aegean cat is one of the oldest natural domestic cat breeds in existence. By natural cat breed, we mean to say that this cat was developed without human input. Aegean cats typically have medium hair length, and are of medium size. Aegean cats are friendly and intelligent. Over the millennia, they have developed a fondness for humans; in Greece and the surrounding islands, they are valued for their rodent catching skills, and are often treated to bits of food by fishermen and other residents. These cats make excellent family pets, as they like almost everyone. Aegean cats are notably chatty they have a tendency to enjoy long conversations with their people. Talk to an Aegean cat, and there likely to reply with happy chirps and meows. Aegean cat a high-quality food. Remember to keep fresh water available at all times, too and don't be surprised if the Aegean cat enjoys dipping their paws in the water dish! Since the Aegean cat has a medium-length coat, regular grooming is essential not just to cut down on shedding, but to reduce the potential for hairballs. Use a slicker brush to remove excess hair from your cat's coat 2 to 3 times per week. Not only will you notice far less shedding, the time you spend grooming your cat will strengthen your bond. Like all other cats, the Aegean benefits from regular dental care. You may also wish to treat your pet to regular nail trims. Left to their own devices, Aegean cats often choose napping over playtime and exploration. Encourage your cat to exercise by offering a cat tree that can double as a favorite nap spot. Toys particularly interactive ones such as wands and lasers can bring out your cat's playful side and help prevent obesity. As the Aegean cat developed on its own without outside influences, it is naturally healthy, with no known health issues. Aegean cat developed on its own without outside influences, it is naturally healthy, with no known health issues. Islands. Archaeological evidence suggests that these cats may have been domesticated about 10,000 years ago on the island of Cyprus, which is just off the coast of Greece. If its true that ancient people shared their lives with these felines, they are truly one of the oldest cat breeds in existence today. DNA evidence suggests that Aegean cats share common ancestry with the Angora and other Turkish cat breeds. It's likely that they found their way to Greece and islands throughout the Aegean Cat has only been recognized as a unique cat breed since the 1990s so its both a new cat breed and an ancient one! Many throughout the Greek islands think of Aegean cats as a national treasure. No wonder these distinctive felines have been part of the area's culture for thousands of years! Many of the feral cats roaming Greece and the surrounding islands are Aegean cats. Aegean cats have an instinctive love of the outdoors and can become quite unhappy when kept as indoor-only pets. These cats have a natural fondness for water. If you bring an Aegean cat into your home, you may notice that they enjoy playing in the faucet. Aquariums should have tight lids if an Aegean cat is present, as these feisty felines are fond of fishing! Note: So far, Aegean cats are not recognized by Cat Fancier associations in any country. There are no breed standards, but all Aegean cats share some common characteristics. Aegean cat has a tail that is proportionate to its body, usually wider at the base and slightly tapered toward the tip. Aegean cats are medium-sized cats with strong, compact bodies that display ample musculature. An Aegean cat's head has a rounded shape with curved planes. Many Aegean cats show striped facial markings with a pronounced letter M on the forehead. The average Aegean cat has medium-sized ears with rounded tips. All Aegean cats are semi-long-haired, with soft undercoats that are shed during hot weather. Aegean cats come in a variety of bicolor and tricolor patterns, all with white being the dominant color. Black, blue, and red patches either with or without tabby striping are displayed. At Cats.com, we advocate for cat adoption versus buying from breeders. The Aegean, like other purebred cats, is seldom seen in shelters and rescues. Try out our Petfinder tool to explore cats who are either confirmed Aegean or resemble one. Remember that many shelters incorrectly label moggies non-purebred cats as purebreds. Take a look, and you just might fall in love with a non-purebred rescue cat in need. If you want to purchase an Aegean, consider contacting a local breeder for more information. Aegean cats tend to be medium in size. A fully grown Aegean cat might weigh between 7-10 pounds or more and range in height anywhere from about 8"-10" inches tall. The Average lifespan for Aegean is 9-12 years. Aegean are short-haired cats. Therefore, they do not shed as much as long-haired cat breeds. Help us do better! Was this information and tips in this article Article was somewhat helpful, but could be improved

Hypoallergenic cats breeds list. Common breeds of cats list. Little friends dogs and cats breeds list. Cat breeds to get. Cat breeds with pictures. What are the 10 most popular cat breeds. All cat breeds in the world. Domestic cats breeds list. Cats breeds list with pictures.