I've seen a lot of people wonder how to fix the bug that your game simply crashes and how the robot in the first level works. Here's the solution!To fix the crashing you must "Verify Integrity of Game Cache" on Steam. This can be done by right-clicking your game in the Library and selecting "Properties". The you have to select the "Local files" tab and click the "Verify Integrity of Game Cache" button.To fix the robot you must turn "Vertical Sync" on. This can be found in the in-game option menu under Options>Video Settings>Vertical Sync: On.There you have it. Those two things will save you a lot of time and stress! It's so difficult to move the way you actually want to, it's difficult to play this with others, cut scenes can't be skipped most of the time (unless you do something specific and even then it's iffy), and some things don't display correctly on the map that impedes on your progression... Other than the many issues with the game, I did enjoy hunting for all the collectibles. I think that's always a nice highlight of these Lego games.I noticed I couldn't skip cut scenes while using my wireless controller. Not even the start up video when you launch the game. What allowed me to do so was turning on my wireless controller BEFORE I launch the game. For whatever reason, this allows me to skip the startup video AND many cut scenes. Not all, but it's leagues better than none.Another issue I had was volume. The startup video plays at full volume no matter what you set the volume to in the game because it only enacts the set volume once you load your save. You can't load your save until you pass the startup video. My workaround for this was to change the volume via the windows volume mixer. I have it at 5 and reset the in-game volume to 10.I had issues 100%ing and very loosely documented how I progressed through that in this discussion post. 482 products in account Guide Secret codes LEGO® MARVEL Super Heroes hi KXFQ87 -Beetle P9OWL0 - Black Cat (only the last 0 is a zero) B7AA3K - Hydra Soldier AA0Z50 - Carnage (both 0's are zero's) Q5X1J5 - Iron Patriot J58RSS - Howard the duck SZBQ06 - MODOK (penultimate digit zero) H8CSE6 - Thor (Classic) 7HWU4L - Captain A Force closed while starting the game Can someone help me fix my problem, i just bought this game yesterday.
