comparison with the chart sizes. Its necessary to get an extra set of hands for the process because you need to stay still and relaxed while someone else takes the measurements. measure around the widest part of the forehead all the way to the back. Repeat three times and use the largest number as the measurement. NeckStart at the base of the neck in the front and go round and back. Avoid measuring the higher regions of the neck and focus on the base. BustThis is for womens tops, dresses, and jackets. Measure around the fullest part of your bust with the tape going around your back and under your arms. Ensure it stays parallel to the floor throughout the process. WaistYoull need to measure your natural waistlineright under your ribcage and along your belly button. This might seem strange if you wear your pants lower than this level, but its the right place to take the measurement. Hipstake a soft but durable tape measure around the hips and across the fullest point of the curved surface. Youll need this measurement for a pair of jeans, a skirt, or a dress.
